School Board Approves Joint Vocational School

Circleville Board of Education, meeting in lengthy session Monday night, agreed to participate in the Area Joint Vocational School, passed its yearly budget and approved changes in the grade card system.

Board members unanimously approved the participation of the Circleville school system in the vocational school. The school will be designed to give vocational training to students in grades 11 and 12 from the Laurelsville, Circleville, Chillicothe, Ross and Pickaway County school systems.

Changes in grade cards for the elementary schools were approved by the board. The new cards will be designed to provide more complete personal information on the progress and development of the students.

A budget of $1,476,282.48 was approved at the meeting for the 1969 calendar year. The budget is only an estimate of expected expenses during the year. Actual appropriations budget will be approved in January.

AT present the board sees no need for additional operating millage for the coming calendar year.

In other business before the board resignations of Barbara

Barnett and Linda Wolfe were accepted.

Five teachers were approved for the coming school year. Area residents Mrs. Asa Elsea and Mrs. Robert Litter will be employed by the board on a half-time basis as elementary school teachers.

Other new teachers include Susan Emmert, an Ohio State University graduate without teaching experience; Mrs. Jane Bare, a graduate of Marshall University with six years teaching experience; and Michael Billette, an Ohio State University graduate with no previous teaching experience.

Two non-certificated per-

Solons Approve $2 Million Budget

Pickaway County Commissioners approved an estimated budget totaling $2,031,595.02 for 1969 during their weekly meeting yesterday.

The two million plus budget compares to a $1,973,790.54 appropriated for the 1968 calendar year by the commissioners.

Contributing to the increase in the budget is the fact that many of the elected officials of the county, including the judges of the common pleas and probate courts, get increases in salary granted by the state legislature.

Here is a breakdown of the approved estimated budget:

GENERAL fund, $932,308.74; Ashville Teays Valley Storm Sewer, $2,001.41; Ashville-Teays Valley Bond Retirement, $3,450; capital improvement fund, $24,429.10; Clark Lakes Sewer District, $1,000; county ditch, $1,139.45; Hughes Ditch, $600; welfare capital improvement, $35; Knollwood Village bond retirement, $3,430.10; Knollwood Village operating fund, $2,700; speech therapist, $5,905; tuberculosis, $20,000; auto and gas tax fund, $913,998; maintenance and repair fund for sheriff and engineer, $12,000; dog kennel, $10,361.22; real estate assessment, $42,480; soil conservation district, $3,900; school for retarded children, $51,855.

In other action Monday, Commissioners Wayne Hines, Lloyd Melvin and Charles Morris accepted a bid submitted by Hill Implement of $3,262.72 for a tractor and highway mower for the county engineering department.

The bid includes a trade-in allowance for a tractor and mower the department presently has.

The Columbia Fuel Gas Co. was granted permission to install 1,427 feet of gas pipe line along Route 188.

Painesville OKs

Open Housing Law PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A fair housing ordinance considered one of the strongest in Ohio was passed unanimously Monday night by Painesville City Council.

The ordinance, effective immediately, establishes a board to investigate complaints of discrimination. If no settlement is reached on a complaint, the board has power to recommend prosecution in municipal court. Penalties for violation are fines of $50 to $500 and jail sentences of up to six months.

Informal Paris Talks Bring Hopeful Signs

Regular Sessions Mostly Outlet For Propaganda

PARIS (AP)—The United States and North Vietnam apparently have reached a point in the Paris peace talks where they can sound each other out secretly on possible arrangements to de-escalate the war in Vietnam.

Both now agree publicly that their delegation leaders have touched on "serious" issues in their private conversations during the coffee breaks in their formal sessions. In addition, the diplomatic channels used for communications between Washington and Hanoi in past peace probing are obviously still open and presumably in use.

The formal exchanges between Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy in their regular Wednesday meetings continue deadlocked and repetitious, mainly serving the propaganda purposes of both sides. But their informal contacts have gone beyond that rigid pattern, allowing a more flexible exploration of peace possibilities.

There is also some indication that leaders in Washington and Hanoi are engaged in policy reviews.

Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance is flying to Washington today for consultations with President Johnson before Johnson goes to Honolulu to confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

On the North Vietnamese side, Le Duc Tho, special counselor to Thuy, has been in Hanoi for about two weeks. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party's policy-making politburo.

The deadlock over de-escalating the war arises from Hanoi's demand that the United States stop all bombing of its territory, and Washington's demand that North Vietnam show some military "restraint" to justify ending the bombing. North Vietnam has said since before the talks started on May 13 that until the bombing is stopped no other issue of Vietnamese peacemaking can be discussed.

FDA To Take New Look At Stand on Some Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tests showing a third instance of a brand-name drug working better than the cheaper generic version is forcing the Food and Drug Administration to take an expanded look at its position that differences between such drugs are minimal.

Commissioner Herbert L. Ley Jr. acknowledged Monday the new findings have prompted the FDA to expand the scope of its 18-month study of some 50 drugs to indicate degree of justification for higher brand-name costs.

"We still maintain there are relatively few of these (generic) drugs which don't perform up to standards," Ley said in an interview. "We may be wrong. But if we are, we'll be the first to admit it."

The generic drugs have the same active chemical ingredients but often cost a fraction of the price for brand-name drugs.

Differences in performance have been traced so far to such things as coatings, added inactive ingredients and the amount of pressure used to make tablets.

Ley said he believes differences still can be overcome by 1970 when the FDA hopes to be able to say that all drugs on the market are both safe and effective.

But an authoritative FDA source said the new finding have altered those prospects since former FDA Commissioner James L. Goddard testified

Regis Philbin Back with Joey

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Regis Philbin has returned as announcer on the Joey Bishop show and told the star he was back "to be with you as long as I can help you."

"Al's well that ends well," Bishop said as Philbin returned Monday for a taping session for tonight's program on ABC.

Philbin stalked off the stage last Wednesday with tears in his eyes saying he was a "hindrance" and telling Bishop he had overheard remarks within the network that he was holding back the nightly talk show.

At the time, Bishop told the audience, "I promise you he'll be back."

Allies Remain Alert in Case Of New Thrust

SAIGON (AP)—The ground war picked up south of Saigon Monday and today, with 192 of the enemy reported killed. But a senior U.S. officer said large enemy units had moved westward from the Saigon area, and the next big Viet Cong offensive against the South Vietnamese capital is not likely before late July or early August.

The American source warned that despite the enemy withdrawals, the Viet Cong still plans to attack Saigon. Da Nang and Hue, the two major cities in the northern part of the country, also were considered likely targets for a general Communist offensive.

After a prolonged lull in the ground war, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division—protecting the southern approaches to Saigon—tangled with an enemy force Monday 16 miles south-southeast of the capital. The battle raged until just before dawn today, and the American Command sent in divebombers, artillery and helicopter gunships to pound the enemy.

U.S. headquarters said 76 Viet Cong troops were slain and 12 weapons captured, including six mortars. U.S. losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

Forty miles farther south, U.S. and South Vietnamese ground, naval and air forces caught sizable Viet Cong units pressing in on a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and reported killing 116 of the enemy in an all-day battle Monday. Seventeen Americans and two (Continued on Page 2)

Oddly-Named U.S. Projects Are Defended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's chief scientist, says Congress shouldn't ridicule his research studies on the basis of strange-sounding titles.

Reacting to criticism by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Dr. John S. Foster Jr. says it is "dangerously misleading" to single out odd-named studies and conclude that all defense research is suspect.

Fulbright recently poked fun in particular at a Pentagon-paid study called "Witchcraft, Sorcery, Magic and other Psychological Phenomena in the Congo and Implications for Military and Paramilitary Operations."

That one, Foster said in a statement prepared for the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee, took one week, cost $522 and amounted to 11 pages gleaned from existing information.

It was conducted, he said, "because senior military officers have reported many incidences of dealing with military situations in developing nations where witchcraft, sorcery and magic have played a significant role."

"At best some titles do not describe an effort very well," he admitted. "At worst some titles are misleading and may suggest a silly or nonsensical effort, to the layman."

Say Panic Caused Death of 2 Coeds In Fire at OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Had two Ohio State University coeds not panicked, they probably would not have died as a result of a dormitory fire, an independent research organization reported Monday.

The report was prepared by the National Fire Protection Association of Boston, Mass., which investigated the May 22 fire in Lincoln Tower dormitory which claimed the lives of two coeds and injured 14 others.

The association also concluded that the dormitory, and its twin Morrill Tower residence hall, "appear to comply" with fire safety standards.

The association, however, questioned "the advisability of housing as many as 16 students in a single suite . . ." of the 24-story dormitories.

"If the two girls had realized the protection their own bedroom afforded with the door closed and the window open, they would be alive today," the association concluded in its report.

The fire claimed the lives of Pamela Sue Patterson, 18, Ludlow Falls, and Retta D. Foster, 22, Colorado Springs, Colo., two of 10 coeds housed in the apartment-like suite on the 11th floor. Both died of smoke inhalation. Other girls in the suite closed their bedroom doors and broke out windows to keep from being suffocated.

The association also concluded the fire "is believed to have been incendiary in origin."

Following an investigation, a freshman coed, 19-year-old Harriet Frances Leeb, South Euclid, was charged with arson. She later was confined for psychiatric care in a Cleveland hospital.

Miss Patterson and Miss Foster "became panic stricken . . . and began racing around the suite in an effort to escape the fire," the report said.

"The rest of the girls in the suite tried to calm the two girls and convince them to stay in

Schottenstein Burglary Loss Seen $130,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Loss was estimated at $130,000 by police today as they continued to hunt for a clue to burglars who broke into the Schottenstein North Department Store here some time early Monday.

Police called it "one of the most professional jobs" in recent years, and the amount of loot also ranked high on the recent Columbus crime scene.

Thieves entered the building by knocking a small hole in a concrete block wall. They took more than $50,000 in cash receipts, negotiable checks and bonds, jewelry, luggage and clothing. The burglars had put the store's extensive burglary alarm system out of commission.

Authorities said the burglary may be tied in with similar professional jobs in Cleveland and Canton.

Radio Station Attacks Mao

Believe Station Inside Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—A mysterious Chinese radio station calling itself "voice of the Peoples Liberation Army" has called upon PLA commanders and troops throughout Red China to prepare for a "true Communist" revolt against party chairman Mao Tse-tung, Defense Minister Lin Biao, and Mao's wife, Chiang Ching.

Violently denouncing the three for "usurping Communist power, lying to the masses, and cheating the PLA," the almost nightly broadcasts accuse Mao of initiating and Lin and Chiang Ching of helping carry out the "anarchism that has paralyzed and is destroying our country."

Lin is Mao's heir apparent. Attempts to pinpoint the location of the station's transmitter have not been successful—at least so far as is known here—and there is considerable doubt as to whether it really is a clandestine army station operating on the Communist mainland.

It would appear from some direction-finding equipment to be somewhere north of Kwangtung Province, perhaps in the region of Changsha, capital of Hunan Province, or in Hupei's Wuhan area—the latter a hot-bed of anti-Maoist activities for more than a year.

Sophisticated equipment exists which can "bend" radio waves and there are some here who believe the transmitter may be located on Formosa.

Professional China analysts here tend to believe that the station is transmitting from mainland China.

Violence Quelled In Pennsylvania

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Sporadic violence flared in two predominantly Negro sections of York early today, but subsided when police surrounded one of the troubled areas.

Police Lt. John C. Mueller said the incidents—largely fire-bombing and rock-throwing—were restricted to York's west and southeast sections.

Soviet Bloc Pressures Czechs To End Liberalization Move

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia, his has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard-line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philosophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

After World War II, it went on, the Communist party "possessed the great trust of the people" but "gradually exchanged this trust for offices until it had all offices and nothing else."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for rule, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

"Personal and collective honesty declined. Honesty led nowhere, and it was useless to speak of any appreciation for ability. Therefore, most people lost interest in public affairs. . . . "We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us. The main responsibility, however, rests with those who were component parts or instruments of uncontrolled power."

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

"It took several months," it added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel. . . .

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who have acted dishonestly or brutally. We must find ways and means to induce them to resign: for example, through public criticism, resolutions, demonstrations, demonstrative work brigades, collection drives for gifts to them when they withdraw, strikes and boycotts of their doors."

Collar-wilting heat and humidity steamed the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic again today and there was little hope for any early letup.

Temperatures remained in the sticky 70s throughout the night over the entire nation except for upper reaches of the Rockies and the Pacific Coast.

The mercury sizzled into the 90s Monday as far north as northern North Dakota, upper Michigan and northern Maine. Pierre, S. D., registered a high of 104.

Sporadic showers and thundershowers lingered over Florida to the Ohio Valley and from the Rockies to the northern Great Lakes.

Heavy flooding hit the Michigan upper peninsula village of L'Anse Monday night following a severe storm. The entire community of 2,397 was washed by 4 to 5 feet of water. No serious injuries were reported.

Nearly 4 inches of rain swamped portions of west-central Missouri through Monday evening, and parts of southern Ohio measured more than 1½ inches.

Coolest temperatures before dawn centered in the northern Rockies where Mullan, Idaho, registered a springlike 44.

Cincy Faces City Deficit

CINCINNATI (AP) — City Council's Finance Committee will hold a public hearing July 26 to discuss a projected $14.3 million deficit for the city by 1973.

City manager Richard Krabach predicted the deficit Monday and said either property tax or city income tax, or both, would have to be raised to lower the amount.

He asked council to consider the alternatives before its August meeting.

The general fund expenditures will be caused mostly by anticipated wage and salary adjustments for city workers.

An increase in either property tax or the one per cent income tax would require voter approval and the city would have to act by September 6 to get a tax proposal on the November ballot.

Soviet Bloc Pressures Czechs To End Liberalization Move

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia, his has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard-line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philosophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

After World War II, it went on, the Communist party "possessed the great trust of the people" but "gradually exchanged this trust for offices until it had all offices and nothing else."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for ruse, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

"Personal and collective dishonesty led nowhere, and it was useless to speak of any appreciation for ability. Therefore, most people lost interest in public affairs. . .

"We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us. The main responsibility, however, rests with those who were component parts or instruments of uncontrolled power."

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

"It took several months," it added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel. . .

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who have acted dishonestly or brutally. We must find ways and means to induce them to resign: for example, through public criticism, resolutions, demonstrations, demonstrative work brigades, collection drives for gifts to them when they withdraw, strikes and boycotts of their doors."

Disarm Bomb In Newark

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A bomb found in a garbage can outside the Mexican consulate was disarmed today by Army demolition experts.

The device, described by police as "a very effective time bomb," was found on Commerce Street in downtown Newark after police were alerted by a newspaper switchboard operator. The operator said a call was received from a man with a Spanish accent who said a bomb had been planted outside the consulate.

In New York City there have been seven incidents involving bombings or attempted bombings of foreign tourist and diplomatic offices since April 22. A live bomb was dismantled by police experts two minutes before it was to explode early Monday at the French Tourist Office in Rockefeller Center.

HIT NO. 2 "THE FROZEN DEAD"

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been raking in huge profits from the nation's coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.
This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the past three years. It is expected to exceed $200 million in the current fiscal year.
Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the Treasury Department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $834 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in the number of coins made because the shortage has eased.

The windfall profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

In the past, profits from coinage went into the government's books as added revenue just like tax collections.

Now it is figured as a means of financing the federal deficit

under the new unified budget which went into effect last January.

Seigniorage represents cash in the Treasury's hands and reduces the amount of money the department must borrow to pay the government's bills.

Officials assume this change was made to eliminate from the revenue side anything which might resemble a gimmick. The Commission on Budget Concepts which drafted the new system tried to eliminate gimmicks and make the budget more understandable.

Before the new sandwich coins were minted, seigniorage was a relatively minor part of the government's income although it increased substantially after the Treasury stepped up coin production in 1964 and 1965 to end the shortage.

In 1960, for example, it came to little more than $52 million but rose to almost $113 million during fiscal 1965.

With the minting of the first sandwich coins in fiscal 1966, the profit rose to almost $650 million including about $25 million in the old 90 per cent silver coins the treasury had on hand.

The month-long absence of sustained battle was reflected in a casualty report for last week issued by South Vietnamese headquarters.

The government said allied forces killed 836 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, the lowest weekly toll of the enemy claimed since the first week of 1967, when 626 were reported killed.

The number of South Vietnamese reported killed —157— was the lowest in four and a half months.

American casualties for last week will be reported on Thursday.

Violence Hits In Michigan

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Bricks and bottles thrown at passing autos smashed windows in at least 14 cars in a three-block area on Jackson's South Side Monday night as the predominantly Negro section was hit by second straight night of violence.

One injury was reported by a motorist who was pelted twice within a half-hour. Carl Dull, 43, suffered a cut on his left arm.

Police broke up gatherings of between 10 and 20 persons at least a dozen times only to find them regrouped a little while later. Police said they were unable to arrest the rock-throwers because each time they melted back into groups of bystanders and could not be identified.

Car Rental Firms Must Pay Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has signed a law making car rental agencies responsible for parking tickets ignored by scofflaw customers —a practice he says costs the city $1.5 million annually.

In acting on the bill over the objections of the car rental industry Monday, Lindsay said there is a backlog of more than a million unpaid parking tickets issued to rental drivers.

"Our taxpayers, in short, are subsidizing parking privileges for those who rent cars," the mayor said. "It is certain that the city ought no longer tolerate so specific and massive a disregard of its parking laws."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas told the Senate Judiciary Committee today he participated in White House meetings on the Vietnam war and on riots in the cities.

Fortas Tells Of His Role With LBJ

But he insisted his role was only to summarize for the President what others said in the sessions.

The justice, testifying on his nomination to be chief justice of the United States, said he was consulted on very few matters and that they have not been matters on which he could claim he was an expert.

"My role has been solely one who sits in the meeting while others express their views," Fortas said. He continued that the President "turns to me last to summarize."

This alone, he said, was the function he served at White House meetings.

Cincinnati Hit By Hard Rain, 3 Alarm Fire

CINCINNATI (AP) — Heavy thunderstorms struck Cincinnati Monday night causing scattered damage and lightning set off a three-alarm blaze that swept through a 40 - unit apartment building.

None of the 60 occupants of the building in the Clifton section was hurt, but a few of about 70 firemen that fought the fire were treated for smoke inhalation and exhaustion.

The fire was brought under control in about one-half hour but damage to the four - story brick dwelling was estimated in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Trees and electrical wires were downed in the city of Norwood and suburban Delhi Hills and basements were flooded in several sections.

A car was stalled in water up to its taillights in suburban Indian Hill.

Stock Market Edges Down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market worked irregularly lower in fairly active trading this afternoon.

The market was mixed at the start but gradually edged lower as stock prices seemed to lack incentive.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.1 at 346.8, with industrials off 1.1, rails off 1.7, and utilities up .3.

Some issues were helped by reported gains in profits, but there was very little sustained leadership. Both blue chips and glamor stocks put on a hesitant performance.

Gains and losses were about even in early trading, but as the session wore on, the losers outnumbered gainers by about 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.86 at 921.86.

The trend remained generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

A delegate and an alternate to the Ohio School Boards Convention were picked. Dale DeLong was chosen delegate and Tom Elsea was named alternate.

Final act of business for the evening was to accept consideration of NCR and Burrough bookkeeping machines.

The board adjourned until next Monday when it will meet to consider any additional teaching personnel which may be recommended by the superintendent.

Disarm Bomb In Newark

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A bomb found in a garbage can outside the Mexican consulate was disarmed today by Army demolition experts.

The device, described by police as "a very effective type bomb," was found on Commerce Street in downtown Newark after police were alerted by a newspaper switchboard operator. The operator said a call was received from a man with a Spanish accent who said a bomb had been planted outside the consulate.

In New York City there have been seven incidents involving bombings or attempted bombings of foreign tourist and diplomatic offices since April 22. A live bomb was dismantled by police experts two minutes before it was to explode early Monday at the French Tourist Office in Rockefeller Center.

Alloy Coins Are Profitable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been raking in huge profits from the nation's coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.

This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the past three years. It is expected to exceed $200 million in the current fiscal year.

Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the Treasury Department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $634 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in the number of coins made because the shortage has eased.

The windfall profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

In the past, profits from coinage went into the government's books as added revenue just like tax collections.

Now it is figured as a means of financing the federal deficit

under the new unified budget which went into effect last January.

Seigniorage represents cash in the Treasury's hands and reduces the amount of money the department must borrow to pay the government's bills.

Officials assume this change was made to eliminate from the revenue side anything which might resemble a gimmick. The Commission on Budget Concepts which drafted the new system tried to eliminate gimmicks and make the budget more understandable.

Before the new sandwich coins were minted, seigniorage was a relatively minor part of the government's income although it increased substantially when the Treasury stepped up coin production in 1964 and 1965 to end the shortage.

In 1960, for example, it came to little more than $52 million but rose to almost $113 million during fiscal 1965.

With the minting of the first sandwich coins in fiscal 1966, the profit rose to almost $650 million including about $25 million in the old 90 per cent silver coins the treasury had on hand.

Allies Remain

South Vietnamese were wounded, spokesmen said.

As many as 1,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 9th Division plus more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops boxed the enemy in near Phu Vinh, U.S. Air Force dive bombers and Army helicopter gunships pounded the guerrillas, and South Vietnamese troops said they counted 61 enemy soldiers killed by the air strikes alone.

Government headquarters also reported that a large arms cache was seized, including 35 boxes of ammunition for automatic weapons, 16 rounds of mortars, 17 rounds of recoilless rifle shells, 22 rounds of bazooka-type rockets, 67 grenades and 50 mines.

The month-long absence of sustained battle was reflected in a casualty report for last week issued by South Vietnamese headquarters. The government said allied forces killed 836 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, the lowest weekly toll of the enemy claimed since the first week of 1967, when 626 were reported killed.

The number of South Vietnamese reported killed —157— was the lowest in four and a half months.

American casualties for last week will be reported on Thursday.

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Frank Jandies continued Monday until July 21 the case of Don Long, accused in the disappearance last weekend of four Wilmington brothers.

Long, 31, charged with four counts of kidnapping and one for use of a motor vehicle without its owner's permission, was granted the continuance to permit the court to appoint an attorney for him.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Snow were found unharmed on a farm near here Saturday night after they had been missing about 24 hours.

Snow had told Long, who lived at the Snow home, to take the car and the boys out to a restaurant and to a drive-in. They were seen last about 7:30 p.m. Friday and a massive police search began early Saturday after the five did not return home.

Ohio Brothers Both End Up In Same Hospital

SAUL STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—Heart attacks have sent two Ohio brothers to the same hospital while on separate fishing trips in the Sault area.

Charles Grey, 52, of Logan, Ohio, was admitted to Plummer Memorial Hospital in mid-June after complaining of chest pains while staying at a lodge near Bruce Mines, about 30 miles southeast of here.

Two weeks later, Bernard Grey, 58, of Wooster, Ohio, ended up at the same lodge while on another fishing trip and learned of his brother's illness. Shortly after, he had a heart attack and was admitted to the same hospital.

The brothers are reported in satisfactory condition and hospital officials said they would be released in a few weeks.

Famous Old Willard Hotel Closed Down in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Willard Hotel, where presidents from Franklin Pierce to Warren G. Harding slept and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was composed, has closed its doors after more than a century's association with the nation's history.

Located on 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue, less than two blocks from the White House, the Willard survived as an institution of the wear and tear of the Civil War, conventions and depressions since the first building went up about 1850. The original hotel was torn down in 1901 and the current structure replaced it that year.

But the Willard couldn't fight 20th Century economics and the prospect of urban renewal and its managers shut down the establishment last midnight.

It wasn't always that way. Almost as soon as the Willard Brothers moved from New England to the capital city and put up a hotel it became the focus of Washington social and political life.

The first of the long line of presidents to stay at Willard's Hotel, as it was known then, was Franklin Pierce. He moved in after his November 1852 election and stayed until his inauguration the following March 4.

They weren't all politicians, the guests who stayed at Willard's. Walt Whitman was there. So was Mark Twain, Victor Herbert, John Philip Sousa and Carl Sandberg.

Another guest, in 1861, was Julia Ward Howe. After watching the Union troops return after the disaster at first Bull Run singing the abolitionist tune, "John Brown's Body," she returned to the Willard to set new words to the melody. She called it "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The shutting down of the 450-room hostelry resulted in unemployment for 200 workers, who were given notice at 3 p.m. Monday. They were provided with a bonus, but no severance.

The 150 guests were told of their eviction earlier in the day when cards were slipped under their doors telling them to move.

Welfare Demonstrators Stay on Statehouse Steps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another conference with top state officials is scheduled today by a group of demonstrators seeking higher welfare payments, more jobs and job training.

A handful of the demonstrators spent the night on the front steps of the Statehouse. In all there were about 30 demonstrators in action Monday and Monday evening.

Leaders of the group had two things on their schedule today. They planned to attend court hearings for two demonstrators arrested Monday night while speaking from a lectern placed beneath a statue of President McKinley.

And in late afternoon they planned another session with Willard Dudley, director of the Bureau of Employment Services and with top officials of the state welfare department.

A squad of policemen, moving with swift and silent precision, arrested blue denim-clad Bruce Thomas, 38, as he talked into a microphone and railed the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"He needs to go into that building and arrest Rhodes," Thomas bellowed into the microphone shortly before a policeman took him by the arm and led him to a paddy wagon.

Earlier, police had arrested Edward Bridges, 32, Columbus, who also had been speaking to about 50 demonstrators and a small crowd that gathered along the sidewalk in front of the statehouse.

In both cases, police confiscated portable public address systems.

Officers said the demonstrators had been warned not to use microphones to plead their cases.

Thomas, who identified himself as a Washington organizer for the Welfare Rights Organization, and Bridges both were charged with disorderly conduct. Each was released on $20 bond.

The arrest of Thomas and the muffling of his oratory took the life out of the demonstration and the crowd left McKinley's statue and moved to the statehouse steps.

Fortas Tells Of His Role With LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas told the Senate Judiciary Committee today he participated in White House meetings on the Vietnam war and on riots in the cities.

But he insisted his role was only to summarize for the President what others said in the sessions.

The justice, testifying on his nomination to be chief justice of the United States, said he was consulted on very few matters and that they have not been matters on which he could claim he was an expert.

"My role has been solely one who sits in the meeting while others express their views," Fortas said. He continued that the President "turns to me last to summarize."

This alone, he said, was the function he served at White House meetings.

Cincinnati Hit By Hard Rain, 3 Alarm Fire

CINCINNATI (AP) — Heavy thunderstorms struck Cincinnati Monday night causing scattered damage and lightning set off a three-alarm blaze that swept through a 40 - unit apartment building.

None of the 60 occupants of the building in the Clifton section was hurt, but a few of about 70 firemen that fought the fire were treated for smoke inhalation and exhaustion.

The fire was brought under control in about one-half hour but damage to the four - story brick dwelling was estimated in the tens of thousands of dollars. Trees and electrical wires were downed in the city of Northwood and suburban Delhi Hills and basements were flooded in several sections.

A car was stalled in water up to its taillights in suburban Indian Hill.

U.S. Barrier In Vietnam Becomes a Maginot Line

By JOHN LENGEL
CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP)—The U.S. Command is hardening its fighting positions below the demilitarized zone with the installation of concrete bunkers, giving the "McNamara Wall" a sort of Maginot Line look.

The Marine position at Con Thien, when finished, will be ringed with about 85 bunkers. From North Vietnam they will appear as white, two-foot-high dashes of concrete with six-inch gun slits at ground level.

Lt. John Snowden of Conway, S.C., a Marine engineer whose men are putting the bunkers in place, said, "If you put three layers of sandbags on top of these things to soak up the blast, they will be as safe as anything we can build."

Snowden estimated the bunkers with the sandbags would be able to withstand direct hits from 155mm artillery guns, largest in the North Vietnamese arsenal.

"I wouldn't want to be inside,"

Parma Man Dies By Drowning

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 30-year-old Parma factory worker who did not know how to swim drowned early Sunday after he and six companions climbed a fence to get to a swimming pool at the Snowview Apartment on Stumph Road.

Police said James Mihocik and his friends went to the pool after leaving a stag party at a tavern. The men, warned by apartment manager that police were coming to throw them out, started to leave.

It was then they found Mihocik's body on the bottom in seven feet of water.

though," Snowden said.

In building the bunkers, the engineers sink a four-foot length of steel culvert pipe, about five feet in diameter, vertically into the ground. Another section of culvert pipe is laid horizontally, making a tunnel into the position.

The vertical section is capped with a two-foot high concrete hood weighing 7,200 pounds. The concrete is poured over steel reinforcing rods at Dong Ha and transported by truck or helicopter to the line positions ordered begun one year ago as an anti-infiltration project by former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Each bunker can hold a machine-gun team or three rifle-men. The bunkers are joined by trenches scooped out by ditch-digging machines. The trenches will allow Marines to move about without exposing themselves to fire.

Con Thien, western anchor of a seven-mile strip cleared below the DMZ, has been hit perhaps 20,000 times by enemy artillery over the past year.

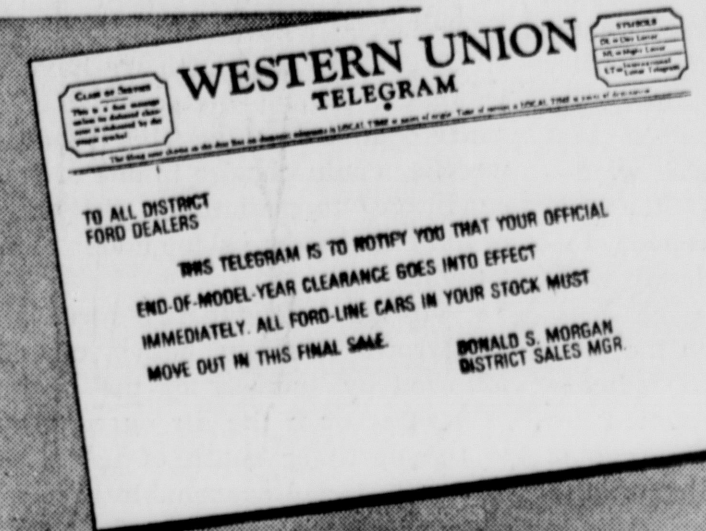

The bunkers and trenches should greatly reduce casualties, Marine officers said.

In the past only a few trenches were dug, by hand. The bunk-shelling at this time last year were mostly hasty sandbag affairs thrown together during the fighting and often blown away with near hits.

Marine engineers still must cope with one problem, the monsoon. Unless an adequate drainage system is developed on the Con Thien rise, the tunnels and bunkers could end up as no more than an elaborate system of pools and canals. The average monthly monsoon rainfall at Con Thien is 66 inches.

Weather Forecast

Good evening, friends. There's a high accumulation of alto-cirrus clouds over the western areas tonight and it is possible we may have some showers tomorrow.

On the other hand, in the zone south of the alto-cirrus we have a disturbance characterized by increasing density which may result in the stratus-cumulus changing to nimbus, and if that should coincide with a west-east wind—which is entirely possible — then we may have rain tomorrow forenoon, followed by cloudy to partly cloudy weather in the afternoon.

The reports from regions in the path of this incipient disturbance indicate a falling barometer accompanied by slightly cooler to definitely cooler temperatures by the middle of the night.

On the other hand, if these currently local disturbances are not pushed eastward by a sustained wind it is quite likely we shall have a clear calm warm day tomorrow typical of this beautiful season of year, and pilots will find flying smooth unless they encounter turbulences.

Directly to the north we have what is known among meteorologists as a status quo situation. This means the weather could change to one of several conditions unpredictably. So you may or may not have to sleep under blankets tonight.

I will now repeat my forecast for tomorrow. Possibly heavy cloudiness followed by showers or the beginning of a rain; or if the air currents move to the north or south of us, a sunny day with a cool seasonable breeze and generally fair weather followed by cloudy to partly cloudy by late afternoon.

Nature Strikes Back

Ecologists are probably the last group of professionals one would think the residents of Borneo would need, but because the inhabitants did not consult an ecologist, the roof literally fell in.

Ecologist are those who concern themselves with the science of interrelations between living things. That is, they attempt to understand and promote nature's delicate balance.

The trouble in Borneo started when the natives discovered there were pesticides which could eliminate mosquitos which were a major pest on the island. A largescale spraying campaign was mounted and the pests were eliminated.

However, killed along with the mosquitos was a wasp which fed on caterpillars. The caterpillars, freed from their natural enemy, multiplied unchecked and consumed the palm-thatched roofs of Borneo's huts.

This is as good an example as any of why a little science is not always good. Unless there is adequate understanding of the interrelationships which might be disturbed by the introduction of a new factor into nature's way of doing things, caution is the byword.

As for the people of Borneo, as they went about the task of installing new roofs on their huts they were heard muttering about what the world was coming to.

Strange Sea Craft

A new type of ocean vehicle is greatly in demand and the navies of at least seven countries are busy learning how to use it. The mini sub, or underwater explorer, is one of the hottest vehicles around.

Man's interest in the ocean's wealth increases with each new discovery. And with increased interest comes the desire to explore the deepest ocean floors. The result is a minor explosion in the construction of some peculiar-appearing underwater craft designed to withstand the tremendous pressures of great depths. According to the Committee on Marine Research Educational Facilities, there are 75 such underwater explorers in the oceans today, 60 owned by the United States. Canada has one, the Soviet Union has five with three under construction, Japan has at least three and Britain has one.

At least one — one of the Russians — has been known to reach a depth of nearly seven miles. That is what one might call getting serious about ocean exploration.

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season to stuff cotton in our ears as soon as you get to work.

It is vacation time. To the average American, going on a vacation is only half the fun. The other half consists in lying about it after he gets back home.

These vacation tales usually follow a pattern: they are larger than life. If the fellow enjoyed himself, there has been no revelry like it since Nero fiddled while Rome burned. If it rained, there has been no downpour to match it since the one that floated Noah's Ark.

Take the cotton wadding out of your ears for the next few weeks, and you'll probably hear from the following familiar vacation types in our own office: Hank, the Hero — "So I took one of these two drowning old ladies under each arm and swam half a mile against a rip-tide to get them to shore. The beach was lined with cheering people." The truth is that Hank went wading and panicked when a wave went over his head. The two old ladies came out, punched him in the nose, then dragged him to safety.

Romantic Rosalind — "The third night out there was a full moon, and as we were sitting alone on deck he silently slipped this diamond ring on my finger," she says. Actually, her aunt gave Rosalind the diamond on her 19th birthday and Rosalind had it remounted a week before she left on the cruise.

Statistical Sam — He claims he averaged 800 miles on the road every day of his vacation. If you remark, "Aren't you spreading it on a little thick, Sam?" he whips out his gasoline bills to try to prove his tall tale. But all they prove is that if he was making 800 miles a day he was also getting 75 miles to the gallon.

Sportsman Sid — "He battled me like a tiger for a full half-hour, but when I finally reeled him in he turned out to be a 9-pound bass, the biggest ever caught at Lake Bide-a-wee," says Sid. The real facts: It was the largest minnow anybody at the lake had ever wasted time on, and it managed to wiggle off the hook before Sid could flip it into the boat.

Home-loving Harry — "I painted my house and by myself," is his brag, as he pulled out snapshots. But if his wife were there to hear him, she'd grimly let you know that she and the kids painted their cottage after Harry fell off the first step of the ladder sprained his ankle, and spent the rest of his vacation dozing in a backyard hammock. The Great Man Himself — "Took so much paper work along with me I never even had time to go out and get a decent tan," the boss grumbles testily. But he's the biggest fibber of all. He didn't take any paper work with him, and the reason he didn't get a tan is that the sun doesn't shine on the indoor roulette wheels at Las Vegas, where he lost his shirt.

But it isn't polite to question the veracity of a returned vacationer as he limps up to your desk and begins to recount his fabulous adventures, full of woe, or wonder, or both. Simply press the cotton a little more tightly in your ears—and smile, smile, smile.

After all, you go on your vacation next month—and then you can get even.

We've just learned the World's Hairstyling Olympics are scheduled to take place in Vienna in September. Our guess is the affair should become the talk of our tontorial parlors along with other subject such as baseball, politics, women, etc.

We also understand the U.S. is slated to have a team competing in those hirsute Olympics. A good name for it would be the Yankee Clippers.

At least, we can all hope that our all-star snippers will be in fighting trim—and we do mean trim!

The competition is bound to be fierce. In fact, we expect the battle for hairstyling honors may furnish some mighty close shaves and could wind up with a hair-raising finish.

However, we're fully confident that our boys will be razor-sharp and should make a good showing on shear ability.

And should our team manage to carry off the big prize, it'll certainly be a heady triumph for your old Uncle Sam!

Incidentally, the Barbers' Union is asking members for donations to send our team to Vienna. We'll be glad to co-operate by earmarking our tip, the next time we get our ears set out, strictly for the fund!

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There are a number of diseases which are thought to be of special distinction and seem to give to their sufferers "important" status. Unlike common, ordinary diseases, a slipped disk has snob appeal, especially if it is acquired while playing squash at one of the Ivy League gymnasiums.

Unfortunately, a slipped disk is a great leveler because it occurs to people in all walks of life and in every endeavor. Far too often a patient's anxiety about a slipped disk is transferred to his doctors and then the patient pressurizes them into early and perhaps avoidable surgery.

One of the most common symptoms is low back pain which is often distressing and incapacitating. The pain is nature's way of begging for the rest that is so important in the eventual recovery from the basic condition which causes it.

A disk is a solid, yet elastic, tissue which lies in between all of the thirty-three bones or vertebrae of the spinal column which runs from the back of the neck to the coccyx, or tail bone. These disks are remarkable, protective shock absorbers which prevent injury to the spine by acting as cushions. They protect the bones of the spine from rubbing against each other during all of the complicated movements made in daily activity.

Occasionally, the disk is pushed out of its normal position by lifting a heavy weight, by exercise without proper conditioning, by excess weight, by long-standing poor posture and by curvatures of the spinal column.

In the center of the disk is a gelatinous mass called the nucleus pulposus. When this is displaced, pressure can be made on the nerves that come from the spinal cord which runs the length and through the center of the bony vertebrae.

The exact location, distribution and direction of the pain depends on the portion of the spine that is involved. Pain shooting from the neck to the shoulders and down the side of the chest might be the result of a slipped, or herniated, disk in the neck. Pain shooting down the back of the leg may be caused by irritation of the sciatic nerve due to a slipped disk in the lower part of the spine.

Some painful symptoms closely resemble each other and may be due to neuritis, arthritis of the spine and to a wide variety of muscular disorders. Self-diagnosis of a slipped disk serves no function other than to terrify oneself. The exact diagnosis can be made readily and takes the guesswork out of the underlying cause.

The combined opinions of a neurologist (nerve specialist), orthopedist (bone specialist) and family physician is the end result of extensive X-ray studies of the entire spinal column. Sometimes a special form of X-rays, a myelogram, is necessary in order to show the exact site of the spinal disorder. When once the exact diagnosis is established, simple conservative treatment is usually tried with medication, bed rest and traction. It is amazing how many patients recover from a "slipped disk" with this type of treatment, in addition to the use of belts, braces and traction.

Traction is a form of treatment by which the vertebrae are gently stretched, thereby taking pressure off the disk and giving it a chance to return to normal position. Massage and manipulation are wrong and dangerous, especially when they are performed without the consent of a doctor and before an exact diagnosis is made. Such manipulation can frequently convert a simple spinal problem into a complicated one. If incapacitation persists after a long and reasonable period of treatment, surgery is resorted to and is now remarkably successful and safe.

NEW YORK (AP) — If your vacation takes you through several states this summer you might discover something that has the cigarette people doing a slow burn: State cigarette taxes have risen sharply.

Within the past year 15 states have voted increases, a few of them to figures round as smokings. Florida's tax jumped to 15 cents from 8 cents, and California's to 10 from 3.

Three states lifted the tax by five cents a pack, one by four and another by three and a half cents, two by three and five by two. West Virginia raised its tax by only one cent.

Industry spokesmen say they believe considerations other than public health have motivated the legislators. But a lot of people feel a desire to discourage smoking has played at least some small but critical role.

The suspicion was expressed this way by a man closely associated with the industry, who asked, incidentally, that the statement not be attributed to him:

"We're a good industry to pick on. Everyone is out to get us, and so if you need more money you might as well get it from someone nobody likes."

From someone nobody likes. It is usually the latter reason that is given as the motivation, for most states are hard pressed to find additional revenues for new services and for old projects grown more costly.

Regular increases of one, two or three cents a pack were the pattern until a few years ago. But in the past couple of years the increases have been nearer a nickel.

The reason for the bigger increases, said Herb Maddock, a field director for the Tobacco Tax Council, is that "legislatures have taken the attitude that if they increase the tax by two or three cents a pack the vending machine industry will raise their price five cents and keep the change."

Have the higher taxes hurt sales? "They affect the pattern rather than the amount," Maddock replied, offering the following illustration:

In Oregon the cigarette tax is four cents. In neighboring Washington it is nearly three times as much at 11 cents. In Oregon, per capita sales of cigarettes is 165.1. In Washington it is 99.7.

Following is a list of state tax increases since July 1, 1967, as compiled by Commerce Clearing House, a publisher of tax and business law information:

California 3 cents to 10 cents; Florida 8 to 15; Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island 8 to 13; New Mexico 8 to 12; Arizona 6.5 to 10; New Jersey 11 to 14; Alabama 7 to 10; Iowa and Maine 8 to 10; New York 10 to 12; Ohio 5 to 7; Illinois 7 to 9; and West Virginia 6 to 7.

Historians Neglect History

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

They are making a big issue about the way our historians have ignored Negro contributions to the growth of America. Well, far be it from me to defend the omission of important Negro names from our textbooks. I think it would be a good thing if our college students were to be told that the man who invented the lasting machine, which revolutionized the shoe industry, was a Negro named Jan Matzeliger; or that two Negroes, J.H. and S.L. Dickinson, developed the player piano; or that the men responsible for giving us the potato chip (Hyram B. Thomas) the golf tee (George F. Grant) and the mop holder (Thomas W. Stewart) all had melanin in their skin. But when you come right down to it, the case against our historians is not so much that they have ignored Negro inventors, ranchers, cowboys and artisans. The real case against our historians is that they have ignored practically all the productive white people, too.

Our history books have, by and large, been politically and martially oriented: we have studied the strategies of our political parties, the activities of our statesmen and politicians, and the campaigns of our generals. But our Arthur Schlesingers have not exhibited much enthusiasm for writing about non-political creativity. I never learned of Elijah McCoy, the nineteenth century negro inventor who held more than seventy-five patents, when I was in college. But then I never learned about Charles (Boss) Kettering of General Motors, the white man who developed the automobile self-starter on order from Henry Leland of the Cadillac Company, either. A New York Times writer accuses us of slighting Dr. Revlon Harris, the Negro who made the first American analysis of the German V-2 rocket. But how many college students know anything about Robert H. Goddard, a white man, who labored obscurely to develop two hundred basic patents in rocketry before the Germans ever developed a V-2 to be analyzed?

I don't know how many stories I have read recently about the Negro runaway slave, Crispus Attucks, who was the first man to die in the Boston Massacre. I first learned about Crispus Attucks ten years ago when I was visiting in Indianapolis, where they have a school that is named after him. The Crispus Attucks basketball team has spread the name and fame of our first Revolutionary martyr, who happened to be black, throughout Hoosierland. But can anyone tell us the names of any of the whites who died in the Boston Massacre along with Attucks?

The point is that our historians are a generally negligent lot when it comes to investigating the tides of common life. They don't tell you about the Negro inventor of the shoe lasting machine. But where is the college student, white or black, who knows the name of Lyman Blake, the white man who devised the machine that sews soles to uppers mechanically? Blake sold his invention to another white man, Gordon McKay, who gets the credit for having invented the "McKay sewing machine." But even this bit of misinformation is not taught in any general college history class that I have ever heard about.

True enough, an occasional Charles Beard or Garet Garrett will give due recognition to a Cornelius Vanderbilt, or a Henry Ford, or an Eli Whitney, in a standard historical text. But only the top-drawer industrial and technological characters get mention. The white man who invented the lumberman's cant hook (Joseph Peavey) remains in obscurity along with the Negro who invented ice cream (Augustus Jackson).

Ignorance, schmignorance! Certainly the Negro student has a case against teachers who overlook the contributions of his race to our history. But our white students who would like to know something that goes beyond the names and careers of the big political and military heroes have a case, too.

As for our purely political historians, the writers of them have not been anti-Negro. You don't hear about Negro presidents and Negro Supreme Court justices of past times for the simple reason that we haven't had any (I am talking about pre-Thurgood Marshall days, of course). But when Negro leader Booker T. Washington visited the White House in Teddy Roosevelt's day, it certainly got into the books. It is hardly the fault of our historians that Booker T. Washington is now looked down upon as an Uncle Tom.

Poems about machines, animals and war fascinated boys and helped overcome juvenile prejudice that poetry is "not only slightly effeminate," but also unrelated to reality, Brindley said.

Weather Forecast

Good evening, friends. There's a high accumulation of alto-cirrus clouds over the western areas tonight and it is possible we may have some showers tomorrow.

On the other hand, in the zone south of the alto-cirrus we have a disturbance characterized by increasing density which may result in the stratus-cumulus changing to nimbus, and if that should coincide with a west-east wind—which is entirely possible—then we may have rain tomorrow forenoon, followed by cloudy to partly cloudy weather in the afternoon.

The reports from regions in the path of this incipient disturbance indicate a falling barometer accompanied by slightly cooler to definitely cooler temperatures by the middle of the night.

On the other hand, if these currently local disturbances are not pushed eastward by a sustained wind it is quite likely we shall have a clear calm warm day tomorrow typical of this beautiful season of year, and pilots will find flying smooth unless they encounter turbulences.

Directly to the north we have what is known among meteorologists as a status quo situation. This means the weather could change to one of several conditions unpredictably. So you may or may not have to sleep under blankets tonight.

I will now repeat my forecast for tomorrow. Possibly heavy cloudiness followed by showers or the beginning of a rain; or if the air currents move to the north or south of us, a sunny day with a cool seasonable breeze and generally fair weather followed by cloudy to partly cloudy by late afternoon.

Nature Strikes Back

Ecologists are probably the last group of professionals one would think the residents of Borneo would need, but because the inhabitants did not consult an ecologist, the roof literally fell in.

Ecologist are those who concern themselves with the science of interrelations between living things. That is, they attempt to understand and promote nature's delicate balance.

The trouble in Borneo started when the natives discovered there were pesticides which could eliminate mosquitos which were a major pest on the island. A largescale spraying campaign was mounted and the pests were eliminated.

However, killed along with the mosquitos was a wasp which fed on caterpillars. The caterpillars, freed from their natural enemy, multiplied unchecked and consumed the palm-thatched roofs of Borneo's huts.

This is as good an example as any of why a little science is not always good. Unless there is adequate understanding of the interrelationships which might be disturbed by the introduction of a new factor into nature's way of doing things, caution is the byword.

As for the people of Borneo, as they went about the task of installing new roofs on their huts they were heard muttering about what the world was coming to.

Few instances can be recalled, however, when tax increases were asked for reasons of public health. One of these involved a presidential candidate Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who in 1965 sought an increase to 10 cents a pack for two announced reasons: to discourage smoking and to increase revenue.

It is usually the latter reason that is given as the motivation, for most states are hard pressed to find additional revenues for new services and for old projects grown more costly.

But when Negro leader Booker T. Washington visited the White House in Teddy Roosevelt's day, it certainly got into the books. It is hardly the fault of our historians that Booker T. Washington is now looked down upon as an Uncle Tom.

Do-It-Yourself Poet JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Fruitless years spent trying to interest teen-age schoolboys in poetry led a Johannesburg teacher to write his own material — poems dealing with machines, animals and war.

English teacher David Brindley has his own poetry for a adolescent boys published because of "the total lack of suitable textbooks." Poems about machines, animals and war fascinated boys and helped overcome juvenile prejudice that poetry is "not only slightly effeminate," but also unrelated to reality, Brindley said.

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season to stuff cotton in our ears as soon as you get to work.

It is vacation time. To the average American, going on a vacation is only half the fun. The other half consists in lying about it after he gets back home.

These vacation tales usually follow a pattern: they are larger than life. If the fellow enjoyed himself, there has been no revelry like it since Nero fiddled while Rome burned. If it rained, there has been no downpour to match it since the one that floated Noah's Ark.

Take the cotton wadding out of your ears for the next few weeks, and you'll probably hear from the following familiar vacation types in our own office: Hank, the Hero — "So I took one of these two drowning old ladies under each arm and swam half a mile against a rip-tide to get them to shore. The beach was lined with cheering people." The truth is that Hank went wading and panicked when a wave went over his head. The two old ladies came out, punched him in the nose, then dragged him to safety.

Romantic Rosalind — "The third night out there was a full moon, and as we were sitting alone on deck he silently slipped this diamond ring on my finger," she says. Actually, her aunt gave Rosalind the diamond on her 19th birthday and Rosalind had it remounted a week before she left on the cruise.

Statistical Sam — He claims he averaged 800 miles on the road every day of his vacation. If you remark, "Aren't you spreading it on a little thick, Sam?" he whips out his gasoline bills to try to prove his tall tale. But all they prove is that if he was making 800 miles a day he was also getting 75 miles to the gallon.

Sportsman Sid — "He battled me like a tiger for a full half-hour, but when I finally reeled him in he turned out to be a 9-pound bass, the biggest ever caught at Lake Bide-a-wee," says Sid. The real facts: It was the largest minnow anybody at the lake had ever wasted time on, and it managed to wiggle off the hook before Sid could flip it into the boat.

Homecoming Harry — "I painted my house ad by myself," is his brag, as he pulled out snapshots. But if his wife were there to hear him, she'd grimly let you know that she and the kids painted their cottage after Harry fell off the first step of the ladder sprained his ankle, and spent the rest of his vacation dozing in a backyard hammock.

The Great Man Himself — "Took so much paper work along with me I never even had time to go out and get a decent tan," the boss grumbles testily. But he's the biggest fibber of all. He didn't take any paper work with him, and the reason he didn't get a tan is that the sun doesn't shine on the indoor roulette wheels at Las Vegas, where he lost his shirt.

But he isn't polite to question the veracity of a returned vacationer as he limps up to your desk and begins to recount his fabulous adventures, full of woe, or wonder, or both. Simply press the cotton a little more tightly in your ears—and smile, smile, smile.

After all, you go on your vacation next month—and then you can get even.

We've just learned the World's Hairstyling Olympics are scheduled to take place in Vienna in September. Our guess is the affair should become the talk of our tansorial parlors along with other subject such as baseball, politics, women, etc.

We also understand the U.S. is slated to have a team competing in those hirsute Olympics. A good name for it would be the Yankee Clippers.

At least, we can all hope that our all-star snippers will be in fighting trim—and we do mean trim!

The competition is bound to be fierce. In fact, we expect the battle for hairstyling honors may furnish some mighty close shaves and could wind up with a hair-raising finish.

However, we're fully confident that our boys will be razor-sharp and should make a good showing on shear ability.

And should our team manage to carry off the big prize, it'll certainly be a heady triumph for your old Uncle Sam!

Incidentally, the Barbers' Union is asking members for donations to send our team to Vienna. We'll be glad to cooperate by earmarking our tip, the next time we get our ears set out, strictly for the fund!

Youth Hostels Purchase Headquarters in Capital

YOUTH HOSTEL HEADQUARTERS — American Youth Hostels, Inc., purchased this low-cost women's residence building to use as its national headquarters. The building is on 16th St. in Washington.

WASHINGTON — A three-story building on tree-lined 16th St., only eighty blocks from the White House, has been opened as the first lodging place of the American Youth Hostels, Inc., in the nation's capital.

Before the building was acquired by AYH on Jan. 1, it was known as Whitehall, a low-cost residence for young women.

Whitehall was ideally suited for accommodating American and overseas hostellers who for years have been coming to Washington and finding no accommodations for them.

When the owner of Whitehall learned that AYH was looking for a lodging place in Washington, she readily consented to give an option to the non-profit agency.

The building was bought by AYH for $225,000. A campaign for $100,000 was launched in December by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall with Mrs. James A. Logan serving as honorary co-chairman. By mid-March, more than 700 gifts totaling $52,272 were received, mostly from hostellers.

Now known as the Washington International Youth Hostel, the facility has 108 beds; one half for males, the other half for females. Overnight fee is $2 in keeping with the low rates for hostellers.

Stanley Dietz, AYH president, says that America owes it to the hostellers all over the world "to give them in our capital what they give us in theirs."

While there are 110 youth hostels in this country, they are situated in small towns or on the outskirts of towns. The only large city with a youth hostel, outside Washington, is Philadelphia.

Hostel rules include these: facility closes at midnight; no alcoholic beverages permitted; no smoking in sleeping quarters. A guest may stay three nights, but arrangements can be made for extended stays.

NEW YORK (AP) — The raw nerve of antagonism and distrust between Negroes and the police was revealed Monday night in the airing by ABC of a project in Houston, Tex., aimed at achieving a better understanding.

The network took its cameras into a session in which Negroes and policemen confronted each other with their real feelings and attitudes.

"It is generally recognized," said host Frank Reynolds, "that only when people are ruthlessly honest with each other can they begin to make progress for change."

The program, "Prejudice and the Police," was the fourth in an ABC series, "Time For Americans," examining white racism in America. The final two parts will be presented later this month.

The series, as well as similar programs on the other networks, are an opportunity for white Americans to re-examine attitudes which the President's Commission on Civil Disorders said was the underlying cause of the riots.

The year-old Houston project was the outgrowth of an explosive incident at Negro Texas Southern University in May 1967. Since then more than 700 representatives of the Negro community and 800 policemen have met 20 at a time in three-hour sessions.

One Negro complained that police apply double standards. Particularly irksome to him, he said, was that "they always say, 'Come here boy,' or 'Come here nigger.' That isn't the kind of thing that makes a teen-ager respect the police."

A policeman said he felt his attitude toward anyone he stopped was not influenced by the person's politics, or religion or race. "There is no reason that I'm going to give a person a hard time just because he's black and I'm white," he said. "I think generally most police officers practice their job this way."

Besides direct confrontation, psychological methods were employed and one of the most revealing was the psychodrama in which the police and Negroes exchanged roles.

A policeman assumed the identity of a 15-year-old boy and a Negro played the part of a policeman. Two group leaders stood by to reveal what each must be thinking.

In the first skit the policeman-Negro played the role as he thought a white policeman would really do it. He called the youngster "boy" and treated him brusquely. Then he showed how it really should be done and this time he called him "son" and was more gentle and understanding.

Asked afterwards how he felt the first time, the policeman who played the youngsters, said, "I felt sort of pushed

Funds Donated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rockefeller Brothers Fund has donated $250,000 to Morehouse College's Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Fund. The trustees of the fund said the contribution was made because of their "great admiration and respect for Dr. King and in recognition of the vital role to be played by Morehouse in educating other leaders who might carry forward his work."

Reynolds said that although the effectiveness of the project was difficult to assess, Houston's leaders felt encouraged that it may lead to some progress.

Solaqua Garden Club
Tours Hatfield Garden

Solaqua Garden Club met Friday afternoon at the Robtown Parish Hall with 18 members and two guests, Mrs. O.L. Shever, Orient, and Mrs. Gerald McDaniel of Logansport, Pa., present.

The committee announced a surprise tour had been planned and the group visited the home and garden of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Hatfield and son Handy, Route 1, Stoutsville. Mrs. Hatfield greeted the group and led them on a tour of the garden, which is conveniently bordered with grass paths and stepping stones which lead from one display of day lilies after another. Each plot was bordered with contrasting low growing flowers which added greatly to the artistic effect of the garden as a whole.

Handy has many hybrids of his own as well as many seedlings of other hybridizers throughout the United States. The Hatfields have many roses, but it is evident that hemerocallis are their favorites. The business meeting was held in the Hatfield home with Mrs. Elzie Brooks, president, presiding. Mrs. Ben Walker presented "God's Wonderful Handy Work" and a poem "God's Greatest Gift, the Soil" for devotions.

Members agreed not to have a Rose Show Breakfast this next June. The Derby Flower Show at Derby was announced for July 26 and 27. Mrs. Brooks was nominated to be the delegate at the State Convention, August 14 and 15, at the Sheraton-Hilton Hotel in Columbus.

Mrs. Charles Huston volunteered to help set up the Flower Show on July 27 for the Pickaway County Fair. Several others stated they would try to help when needed.

Mrs. Walker, president-elect for the next year named her committees, Mrs. Bernard Savy, Mrs. Boyd Hines, Mrs. Everett Peters, and Mrs. James Hott program; Mrs. Glenn Rinehart, publicity; Mrs. Alfred Cook, Mrs. Walter Cummins, Mrs. Russell Perrill, Mrs. Mary Besansen and Mrs. Glenn Rinehart, membership; Mrs. Cecil Ward and Mrs. John Eitel, historians; Mrs. C.W. Hedges, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Mrs. Charles Taes and Mrs. Willard Barch, ways and means; Mrs. Howard Koch and Mrs. Elzie Brooks, floral tributes; Mrs. Paul Stout, Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh, Mrs. Charles Huston and Mrs. Lee Downs, telephone and transportation.

Mrs. Hatfield showed the guests many of her paintings which decorate her home. She introduced her son Handy, who is studying horticulture at Ohio State University.

A luncheon was served by Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Howard Koch, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Mary Besansen. Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Hatfield for her hospitality. Mrs. Hatfield invited the group to view the various bloomings of the garden during the balance of the summer and fall.

And wait until you gather around to marvel at his open air gourmet dinner.

Possible Entree

It could be barbecued pork loin for which one half pork loin is placed on a spit, well-balanced and secured at both ends. Meat thermometer is inserted into thickest part of meat. It is cooked over glowing briquets. About 1 hour before meat is done, it is brushed with barbecue sauce, repeating occasionally. The meat is well done when the meat thermometer registers 190 degrees F.

1/4 c. each sweet pickle relish and chopped onion

A Fugitive 13 Years, Man Freed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — For 13 years, Howard Clyde Hodges lived in the shadows—a fugitive trying to be an ordinary citizen.

He had a wife, a son, a job, a home and friendly neighbors. Then, this past spring his true identity was revealed. There was a fight to avoid extradition. Friends came to his defense.

Eight days ago Hodges was returned to a North Carolina prison unit.

But today he leaves a free man.

Howard Clyde Hodges, 44, was granted a parole Monday by the North Carolina Board of Paroles.

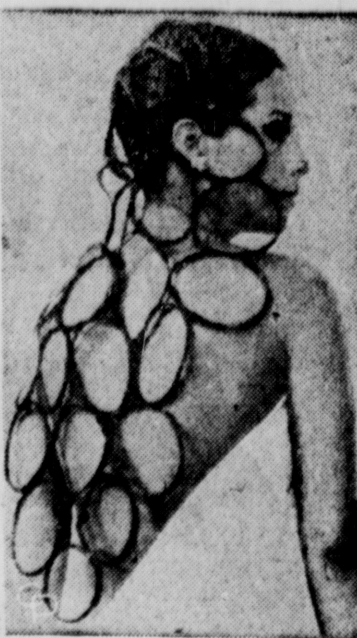

In Danville, his wife said: "I had prayed that this was going to happen. I feel that my prayers have been answered. It's like a weight being lifted off our shoulders. We can make plans now, something we couldn't do before."

Mrs. Hodges, who works in a textile mill, said she visited her husband for 30 minutes Sunday at the Person County prison unit in North Carolina.

Hodges, a native of Danville, escaped from the Durham prison unit in 1955 after serving more than three months of a 12-month sentence for the attempted burglary of a Durham grocery store. He was living in Durham at that time.

J.C. Holmes Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julius C. Holmes, 69, veteran diplomat and authority on Middle East affairs, died Sunday night. Holmes was ambassador to Iran from 1961 until he retired in 1965. During World War II he had the rank of general and was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's political adviser.

Demos Eye Caucus Date

CLEVELAND (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said Monday he will meet soon with U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young and Cuyahoga County Chairman Albert S. Porter to decide on the timing of a caucus of convention delegates.

"I will do my level best to get it (a caucus) postponed until after the Republicans meet (Aug. 5) . . . we should wait to take a long look at what they do in Miami Beach before acting," O'Grady said.

Senator Young, in a separate statement, said he would like to keep Ohio's 115-vote bloc neutral on the first ballot of the Aug. 26 convention. Young is a favorite-son candidate and has been leaning toward Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

While Hubert H. Humphrey appears far in the lead, Young said, he is "not convinced the vice president is going to win on the first ballot."

Delay Trial of Milantfor Murder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Demonstrations outside the courtroom and argument over jury selection marked the opening of the murder trial of Huey Newton of the militant Black Panthers.

A defense attorney declared jury selection methods prevent Negroes from getting a fair trial.

The trial began Monday in Alameda County Superior Court as hundreds of disciplined, black-jacketed Panthers and their supporters shouted, "Free Huey!" from the street seven floors below.

The 26-year-old Panther defense minister is charged with killing an Oakland policeman, John F. Frey, 23, and wounding another in a shootout last Oct. 28. Newton was wounded.

Defense attorney Charles Garry filed a motion to quash the master panel of more than 7,000 potential jurors.

Arguments over this motion lasted all day Monday and were expected to continue through today.

After 11 postponements, Newton's attorneys failed Monday in two attempts to get another delay, and late in the afternoon filed an appeal with the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

They asked a three-judge panel to reverse a denial earlier in the day by U.S. District Judge Lloyd Burke for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of Newton's trial in the state court.

Heat's On for Father To Shine at the Grill

By ALICE DENHOFF

Vacation cook — that's Father. The outdoor grill, the briquets, the lighter fluid, and the asbestos gloves are all put to use, not to mention the fancy apron and chef's tall hat.

And wait until you gather around to marvel at his open air gourmet dinner.

Possible Entree

It could be barbecued pork loin for which one half pork loin is placed on a spit, well-balanced and secured at both ends. Meat thermometer is inserted into thickest part of meat. It is cooked over glowing briquets. About 1 hour before meat is done, it is brushed with barbecue sauce, repeating occasionally. The meat is well done when the meat thermometer registers 190 degrees F.

Now for:

BARBECUE SAUCE

1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed tomato soup
1/4 c. each sweet pickle relish and chopped onion
1 tbsp. each brown sugar, vinegar and Worcestershire. Combine all ingredients.

Cover. Simmer 5 to 10 min., or until onion is cooked and flavors are all thoroughly blended.

Makes about 1/2 cup sauce.

"SOUPER" BARBECUE SAUCE

1-3 c. each chopped onion and chopped celery
1 small garlic clove, minced
2 tbsp. shortening
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed tomato soup
2 tbsp. each, brown sugar, Wor-

chestershire sauce, lemon juice or vinegar

2 tsp. prepared mustard
4 drops Tabasco, if desired

In saucepan, cook onion, celery and garlic in melted shortening until soft. Blend in remaining ingredients; simmer 10 min. Use on broiled steaks, chops, chicken, baked spareribs, meat loaf or franks. About 2 cups sauce.

MARINATED GREEN BEAN SALAD

2 pkg. (9 oz each) frozen whole or cut beans, cooked and drained
1 small red onion, sliced
1 can water chestnuts, sliced
1/2 c. olive or salad oil
1/4 c. vinegar
Pinch of sugar
Dash of pepper
1 to 2 tsp. snipped chives

Place beans in large bowl; add onion and water chestnuts. Combine remaining ingredients in a jar. Cover. Shake well, then pour over vegetables. Chill at least 1 hour, stirring once or twice. Serve on crisp salad greens for a pleasing salad. Serves 6-8.

Demos Eye Caucus Date

CLEVELAND (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said Monday he will meet soon with U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young and Cuyahoga County Chairman Albert S. Porter to decide on the timing of a caucus of convention delegates.

"I will do my level best to get it (a caucus) postponed until after the Republicans meet (Aug. 5) . . . we should wait to take a long look at what they do in Miami Beach before acting," O'Grady said.

Senator Young, in a separate statement, said he would like to keep Ohio's 115-vote bloc neutral on the first ballot of the Aug. 26 convention. Young is a favorite-son candidate and has been leaning toward Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

While Hubert H. Humphrey appears far in the lead, Young said, he is "not convinced the vice president is going to win on the first ballot."

Delay Trial of Milantfor Murder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Demonstrations outside the courtroom and argument over jury selection marked the opening of the murder trial of Huey Newton of the militant Black Panthers.

A defense attorney declared jury selection methods prevent Negroes from getting a fair trial.

The trial began Monday in Alameda County Superior Court as hundreds of disciplined, black-jacketed Panthers and their supporters shouted, "Free Huey!" from the street seven floors below.

The 26-year-old Panther defense minister is charged with killing an Oakland policeman, John F. Frey, 23, and wounding another in a shootout last Oct. 28. Newton was wounded.

Defense attorney Charles Garry filed a motion to quash the master panel of more than 7,000 potential jurors.

Arguments over this motion lasted all day Monday and were expected to continue through today.

After 11 postponements, Newton's attorneys failed Monday in two attempts to get another delay, and late in the afternoon filed an appeal with the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

They asked a three-judge panel to reverse a denial earlier in the day by U.S. District Judge Lloyd Burke for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of Newton's trial in the state court.

YMCA Day Camp Offers Chance for Development

DAILY FLAG RITUAL — Boys' counselor Dave Wilson gets assistance from these day campers in the daily ritual of lowering the flag. Campers learn a sense of responsibility and an appreciation for nature at the camp, operated by the YMCA. Director is Harold Hewitt. His assistant is Talmer Wise and counselors are Sandy Harlan and Wilson.

DEVELOPMENT OF APPRECIATION — Boy campers develop an appreciation for and understanding of their surroundings by fishing in the Camp Miska pond. Charts in the shelterhouse at the camp were used for identification of species of fish caught. One camper reported two dozen blue gills in an afternoon's work.

YMCA Day Camp facilities at Camp Miska, Saltcreek Twp., offer children who are raised in the city a chance to develop an interest in nature.

The camp is one program of many initiated by the new 'Y' office in Circleville. Harold Hewitt, 'Y' director, is in charge of the camp, operating on the farm of Mrs. Lyman Penn.

Mrs. Penn donated the land to the Boy Scouts, who constructed a lodge and converted the wooded lot into a campsite. The Boy Scouts permit the YMCA to hold its Day Camp there.

Assisting Hewitt with his duties at the camp are counselors Sandy Harlan, a student of Marion College, Marion, Ind., and Dave Wilson, a student at Miami University, Oxford. Talmer Wise serves as assistant director and bus driver.

SESSIONS at Camp Miska are run five days a week in one week sessions. Campers are provided transportation to and from the camp. Pickup in Circleville is 8 a.m. and the campers are home around 4 p.m.

Camp Miska is a perfect setting for a city youngster to blow off steam. Activities are geared to acquaint the child with his surroundings.

During the past week, 14 children attended the five days of the camp. Two were sponsored by the YMCA. Director Hewitt reported that the camp could hold up to 25 campers, but enrollment for the first year of operation was as expected.

First day of the camp children get to know each other and their counselors. Boys and girls are divided into groups with their separate counselors.

Craft work takes up most of the day. Such things as necklaces and plaster of paris design were made. Campers pasted pictures on boards and shellacked them for a very interesting effect.

In order to be able to recognize certain aspects of nature, the campers were introduced to their surroundings. One evening the boys were taken fishing in the pond on Camp Miska. Using poles they made themselves the boys netted more than two dozen fish. Charts were available in the shelter house for identification of species.

AFTER every expedition into the woods, children must wash with soap and water to keep off ticks and other insects. Facilities are outside. Other safety hints are presented as slogans along the ways of the shelter house.

Campers were taught how to construct a safe fire. Cookouts were held every noon. One evening the boys, with parents' permission, stayed all night at the camp.

Physical fitness tests were conducted throughout the week for the campers. Certificates were awarded to all participants. The campers also wrote their own newsletter, the Froggy Pond News.

Registration for the three remaining camp sessions may be made at YMCA office, Watt St. Other sessions run July 15-19, July 22-26 and July 29-Aug. 2. Fee covers transportation, crafts, cookout food and beverages, special trips and insurance.

Mason Couple Is Married In Hallowed Hospital Halls

CINCINNATI (AP)—A couple from nearby Mason, refused to let injuries stand in the way and got married in the chapel at Christ Hospital here Monday.

Robert L. Bivens, 24, who wore a shirt and tie and had a bandage on his nose, pushed Constance T. Oberle down the aisle in a wheelchair, and moments later they were pronounced man and wife.

The 27-year-old bride was clad in a blue robe and wore a bandage on her forehead.

An industrial accident and an auto mishap prevented them from getting married July 13 as planned, but they persuaded a minister to wed them in the hospital.

Both wore turquoise hospital identification bracelets and the woman carried white carnations. Nurses joined the families as wedding guests.

After the double ring ceremony, the Rev. Herman Emmert of Heritage United Methodist Church in suburban Mount Healthy told Bivens. "It might be a little awkward, but you certainly may kiss the bride." Hugs, kisses and tears followed and a homemade wedding cake was served.

Bivens, a production line worker at the Monsanto Chemical Co., entered the hospital July 7 after he cut his nose on a metal strip in an accident at the plant.

Mrs. Bivens joined him as a hospital patient July 11 after she blacked out in her auto while returning from visiting Bivens, ran off the road and wrecked.

The couple plans a hospital "honeymoon" and then will live in Mason.

GREEK PREMIER George Papadopoulos tells reporters in Athens about the nation's new 138-article constitution, which calls the country a "crowned parliamentary democracy." It curtails powers of the throne — what the king can do depends on the Council of the Nation.

Death Probed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Authorities were investigating today the death of Emily Harrison, 47, Napoleon, who plunged 10 stories to her death Monday from a downtown office building.

Auto Accidents Cost $1 Billion During May

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic accidents in May cost the nation more than $1 billion, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

The economic loss was estimated at 1.092 billion or $30 million higher than the figures for May 1967. The rise was attributed to increases of 7 per cent in traffic deaths, 8.3 per cent in accidents, and 1.2 per cent in injuries.

Total economic loss for the first five months of 1968 stands at $4,991,472,000, an increase of $300 million over the loss total for the same period last year.

Loss figures include such factors as lost wages, medical expenses, property damage and the service cost of insurance, the institute said.

Cincy Crime Rate Soaring

CINCINNATI (AP)— Police Chief Jacob Schott released a report Monday showing that major crime in Cincinnati rose 33.4 per cent from 1966 to 1967.

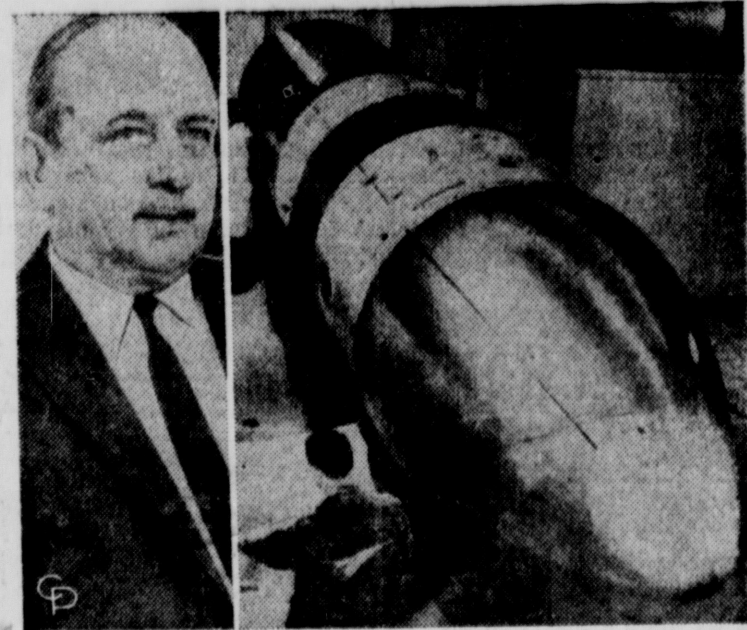

Major crime was described as murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny over $50 and auto theft, and 9,477 such incidents were reported in 1967 compared to 7,103 in 1966.

Non-major crimes, such as manslaughter, nonaggravated assault, and larceny under $50 jumped by 15 per cent.

Schott said in the report that the crime bureau has more than matched the hike of crime with increases in arrests and crime clearances, but that it has failed to reduce the incidence of criminal offenses.

The Chesapeake Bay derives its name from an Indian word meaning "Great Shellfish Bay."

WANTS TO NIX POSEIDON MISSILE—Harry L. Foster (left), a designer for the Poseidon nuclear missile (right), which will be able to fire hydrogen bombs like shotgun pellets, has filed suit in federal court in San Francisco to block testing of the weapon. He says he believes the Poseidon could malfunction and lead to "annihilation of American population."

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A three-judge panel sentenced Clyde Hall, 48, to life imprisonment after delivering a first-degree murder verdict with a mercy recommendation.

Mason Couple Is Married In Hallowed Hospital Halls

CINCINNATI (AP)—A couple from nearby Mason, refused to let injuries stand in the way and got married in the chapel at Christ Hospital here Monday.

Robert L. Bivens, 24, who wore a shirt and tie and had a bandage on his nose, pushed Constance T. Oberle down the aisle in a wheelchair, and moments later they were pronounced man and wife.

The 27-year-old bride was clad in a blue robe and wore a bandage on her forehead.

An industrial accident and an auto mishap prevented them from getting married July 13 as planned, but they persuaded a minister to wed them in the hospital.

Both wore turquoise hospital identification bracelets and the woman carried white carnations. Nurses joined the families as wedding guests.

After the double ring ceremony, the Rev. Herman Emmert of Heritage United Methodist Church in suburban Mount Healthy told Bivens, "It might be a little awkward, but you certainly may kiss the bride." Hugs, kisses and tears followed and a homemade wedding cake was served.

Bivens, a production line worker at the Monsanto Chemical Co., entered the hospital July 7 after he cut his nose on a metal strip in an accident at the plant.

Mrs. Bivens joined him as a hospital patient July 11 after she blacked out in her auto while returning from visiting Bivens, ran off the road and wrecked.

The couple plans a hospital "honeymoon" and then will live in Mason.

Auto Accidents Cost $1 Billion During May

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic accidents in May cost the nation more than $1 billion, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

The economic loss was estimated at 1,092 billion or $30 million higher than the figures for May 1967. The rise was attributed to increases of 7 per cent in traffic deaths, 8.3 per cent in accidents, and 1.2 per cent in injuries.

Total economic loss for the first five months of 1968 stands at $4,991,472,000, an increase of $300 million over the loss total for the same period last year. Loss figures include such factors as lost wages, medical expenses, property damage and the service cost of insurance, the institute said.

Government Can't Even Keep Retirement Fund Filled

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 48 years the federal government has refused to set aside enough of the tens of billions of dollars needed to pay its employees' future retirement benefits.

Now, says the Civil Service Commission, the unfunded retirement liability is up to $53.9 billion.

No official admits to being seriously worried about whether today's 3 million federal employees and their successors will get their pensions.

But witness after witness testified in recent House hearings that unless the financing system is revised, the present $19 billion retirement fund will be broke by 1988 and benefits will have to be paid primarily by direct yearly appropriations.

A plan that would put up more of the money regularly, and reduce the bill for future generations, is scheduled for House debate this week.

But a combination of administration opposition to expanded benefits included in the legislation and the brief time remaining before scheduled adjournment of Congress indicates the problem will be put off for yet another year.

Part of the retirement fund is contributed by federal employees. They chip in 6.5 per cent of base salary. If an employee quits before retirement, he can get his money back.

Government officials say the government's promise in law to pay the benefits is just as good as its promise to pay off on a bond or other federal security, but employee spokesmen have made it clear to Congress that they want money set aside and visible so employees won't think they can't get it for benefits.

Viewed strictly from a standpoint of cumulative out-of-pocket cost to the government as a whole, it doesn't matter whether the money to pay retirement benefits is set aside in advance, appropriated as needed or handled in combination. The cost is the same.

Money set aside in advance earns interest—but such money must be invested in government securities, so the government is simply taking money from one pocket and putting it in another. From a budgeting standpoint, however, differences are significant. Money not put aside one year for retirement must be paid in a more concentrated dose later on.

As of now, the retirement fund has $19.2 billion on hand. But employees have earned an additional $53.9 billion in eventual retirement benefits. The latter figure is called unfunded liability—meaning the money isn't on hand.

Even if salaries and the number of employees stayed the same, the unfunded liability would grow to $126 billion by the year 2015.

At present the fund's money comes from three sources:

—The 6.5 per cent salary levy on employees.

Gilbert H. Grosvenor, who went from only employee of the National Geographic Society to president and editor at the time of his retirement, once said, "I personally addressed all the wrappers for the first issue I edited (April 1899) and carried the entire mail edition to the post office in one trip."

—A matching 6.5 per cent from the employee's agency.

—Interest earned by the fund.

With 800,000 employees already retired, those sources provide enough money to pay the benefits immediately due. But, witnesses told the House, without financing changes, yearly benefit payments to the growing number of retirees would over-fund would go broke in 1988. Financing has fallen behind chiefly because nobody put up the money to pay expanded benefits. Classes of workers have been brought into the program at various times, for example, and given retirement credit for previous federal service without money going into the fund to match the added liability.

Such shortages compound themselves because money the fund doesn't have can't earn interest. That alone now costs $1.7 billion a year.

Week's Firearm Toll Hits 192

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths by firearms totaled 192 across the nation last week, an Associated Press survey showed, and more than 80 per cent resulted from the deliberate firing of a handgun, shotgun or rifle.

One of the dead was a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., housewife, Mrs. Carolyn White, shot during an argument with her husband. She didn't want him to bring a rifle into the house.

The survey showed 121 homicides, 40 suicides and 31 accidental shootings in the week from midnight Sunday, July 7, to midnight Sunday, July 14.

The homicide total compared with a weekly average of 125 reported by the FBI in 1966, the last year for which figures were available.

An AP survey during the week ending June 23 tallied 199 gunshot deaths, including 115 homicides, 65 suicides and 19 by accidents.

California with 21 had the highest firearms toll last week. Of these, 10 were homicides, 10 were suicides and 1 was accidental. Illinois had 15 gunshot deaths, of which 9 were homicides.

The survey contained the familiar picture of crime-connected shootings, domestic quarrels which ended in gunplay and despondency which gave way to suicide. It also revealed how a sometimes pathetically simple dispute ends in tragedy.

Mrs. Albertine Wiggins, 22, was shot to death with a .22-caliber pistol in Winter Haven, Fla. It happened during an argument with her hostess over a dish of homemade ice cream.

A building superintendent allegedly shot three men to death in New York City, eluded a police dragnet and surrendered eventually to police in Graham, N.C.

A teen-ager suspected of prowling in Portland, Ore., was shot by police when he refused to obey an officer's orders to halt. The youth, 19, was deaf.

Two men argued over what records to play on a tavern juke box in Eloy, Ariz. Someone pulled a gun, and Louis Martinez, 29, was shot fatally. Martin Gonzales, 30, surrendered to police.

"A brutal, senseless execution" was the way police described what happened in a Maryland robbery. A well-dressed man entered a sandwich shop near Baltimore, took $169 from the four customers, then ordered them to the floor. He emptied his .38-caliber pistol at the victims, killing two.

A domestic quarrel in New Albany, Ind., ended with the fairly routine entry of "murder-suicide" in police records. Robert H. Schaffer, 61, and his wife, Phyllis Ann, 34, had an argument. She was running from the house when her husband shot her, then turned the gun on himself.

Deaths in the Vietnam war have averaged 357 a week so far in 1968. The National Safety Council said traffic deaths for a week in July averaged around 980.

Week's Firearm Toll Hits 192

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths by firearms totaled 192 across the nation last week, an Associated Press survey showed, and more than 80 per cent resulted from the deliberate firing of a handgun, shotgun or rifle.

One of the dead was a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., housewife, Mrs. Carolyn White, shot during an argument with her husband. She didn't want him to bring a rifle into the house.

Bigger Tax Bite In Effect; Already Urge Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government started taking a bigger tax bite out of Americans' paychecks Monday as the 10 per cent income surtax recommended by President Johnson to help pay for the Vietnam war finally went into effect.

All paychecks received from today on must reflect the surcharge through an increased deduction for federal income taxes.

The 10 per cent increase is on the federal tax Americans already have been paying, not on their total wages.

If $20 had been withheld from each weekly paycheck for federal taxes, for example, $22 will be withheld beginning yesterday.

All paychecks must account for the increased withholding to cover the surcharge even if the money was earned before this week. Only persons in the two lowest income tax brackets are exempt.

President Johnson originally submitted the surcharge to Congress last Aug. 3 and asked for an Oct. 1 effective date for individuals.

When Congress failed to act last year, Johnson changed the effective date for individuals to last April 1, a date approved by Congress in the measure finally passed in June.

Because of this retroactive feature, the tax withheld from paychecks won't cover all the money individuals will owe the government by the end of December.

The extra 3½ months must be paid when Federal income tax returns are filed by next April 15.

This will mean smaller and fewer refunds next year and larger payments of additional tax.

For calendar 1968 as a whole, the surcharge will represent an over-all increase in taxes of 7.5 per cent since it will be paid for only nine months of the year.

The surcharge is scheduled to expire next June 30 but at least one administration official, Undersecretary of Commerce Howard J. Samuels, already has urged its extension to help pay the nation's social legislation costs.

That decision will be up to the administration elected in November, and to the new Congress.

The tax is intended to help meet the cost of the Vietnam War—now running more than $28 billion a year; to keep President Johnson's Great Society programs rolling; to stem inflation, and to reduce a budget deficit which in the last fiscal year rose to about $25 billion—fourth largest in history.

Coupled with the surcharge package is a congressional mandate to the administration to cut spending by $6 billion.

Church Group To Submit Viet Paper

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — A resolution to be submitted this week to the fourth assembly of the World Council of Churches appeals to the United States for an unconditional halt in all bombing in both North and South Vietnam.

A drafting committee of the assembly section studying "peace and justice in world affairs" is working to synthesize five different drafts submitted to it. All called for a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

The final resolution is expected to welcome the Paris peace talks and urge that risks should be taken without waiting for guarantees to ensure the talks succeed.

The section has already approved a recommendation that official church support should be given to young men seeking to avoid service in such wars as Vietnam that offend their consciences.

In another report the World Council's Youth Department said it is the task of the churches to find alternatives to war service and to stand for humane treatment of conscientious objectors.

Card Travels

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — If you think a snail's pace is slow, try the South African postal service, a Johannesburg newspaper, The Star, suggested. A postcard mailed in Cape Town in 1938 was delivered in Pilgrim's Rest in May this year, it reported.

To cover the distance of 1,255 miles, the card traveled an average of 42 miles a year, 3½ miles a month or just over 200 yards a day, the newspaper said. "Zoologists in Johannesburg said this is slower than the pace of a snail, an animal which can move at least 250 yards each day."

Claim Ray Admitted Being 'Sneyd' in Letter to Kin

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Daily News said Monday that James Earl Ray, in a letter written to his brother, admitted he was Ramond George Sneyd, the name under which he was arrested in London in connection with the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The Daily News said the letter was written to John Ray and was signed, "Lord R. G. Sneyd."

John Ray said the handwriting was his brother's and he added, "I don't know where he got the name of Sneyd, but he had lots of names."

Asked about the title "Lord," John Ray said, "That's probably his idea of a joke."

The Daily News made a copy

Austria expects to open its first national park, an area of more than 1,300 square miles by 1970. The park, to be modeled after Yellowstone National Park, will contain the Gross Glockner, Austria's highest peak, the Grossvenediger Ridge, the Pasterze Glacier and Krimml Falls, Europe's highest.

of the letter which in part read, "I could appeal my extradition hearing but I am getting tired of listening to these liars so I might close it up about Tuesday."

There was no indication of which Tuesday the letter referred to, John Ray said he interpreted the letter as evidence that his brother did not kill King who was shot to death on the balcony of Memphis motel in March.

"If he really did it," John Ray said, "he wouldn't be thinking about signing those extradition papers, would he?"

The letter was mailed to a married sister who lives in a suburb of St. Louis, the Daily News said. It was not dated.

U.S. officials working on obtaining Ray's extradition have said they are convinced that Ray and Sneyd are the same person but the fact that the alias was used caused a point of legal confusion during the extradition hearings.

The Daily News did not say where the Ray brothers were residing other than the reference to the sister living near St. Louis.

Saxbe Opens Campaign For Lausche Senate Seat

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Writer
URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe rolled north from his home county of Champaign Monday in a remodeled bus on the first leg of an all-out campaign for a U.S. Senate seat.

The Republican candidate got a rousing send-off from the home folk in Mechanicsburg where Saxbe was born and grew up. Flags draped Main street. The high school band was out and people cheered him on his way to Urbana, his first stop.

"I always have carried my home county," Saxbe said, "by at least 90 per cent."

At Urbana he was greeted at Monument Square by a crowd that lined one side of the street. There was a flag draped stand. Saxbe mounted it for a short talk but the stop was largely a handshaking affair.

On the way to Urbana Saxbe, in an impromptu news conference, emphasized he felt the Vietnam War and crime were the two big issues. He said, however, farming was another along with Urbana problems.

Saxbe said he was open-minded on gun laws but felt registration of firearms alone would be more of a nuisance than a benefit in curbing crime. He said he could not recall any killing where the ownership of a gun had not been traced.

Saxbe, who is opposed by John J. Gilligan, a Cincinnati Democrat, Saxbe said it appeared that while President Johnson was talking in terms of gun registration that what he actually meant was gun confiscation.

If that is the case, Saxbe said, he doubted the public would be willing to accept such a prohibition until convinced the government could protect it in the streets and particularly the home. He added he did not feel citizens were convinced at this point.

Rain began to fall as Saxbe's

bus pulled out of his farm home at the edge of Mechanicsburg. His wife, Dolly, and his 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Bart Saxbe, accompanied him on the first leg of his campaign tour which he plans to carry into all 88 counties.

Other cities on the day's itinerary were Bellefontaine, Wapakoneta, Lima, Findlay and Toledo.

Ohio Pen Guards Vote for Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The possibility of a strike by guards at Ohio Penitentiary was set up Monday night when 97 of 98 guards at a meeting voted in favor of such action.

The prison now has 279 guards according to officials.

Lawrence O. Henry, director of Council 21 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, organized the vote, but said it was not a union action. Some guards are union members, but all guards were eligible to vote Monday night.

Henry said no strike would be called for two days, giving him a chance to send grievances of guards to the state compensation board for possible improvements in pay and working conditions.

The guards are asking for time-and-a-half overtime pay, disability compensation, free meals while on duty and better retirement plan, as well as better pay.

State corrections chief Maury Koblenz said later he would forward the demands to the compensation board, possibly with his recommendation.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

28, She's Prisoner to Jealous Mate

DEAR ABBY: I feel like a prisoner. I've been married for 11 years, have 10 children, and I'm not yet 30. I thought I was in love when I got married, but all that is changed now because my husband has changed. He made sure I had a baby every year so I wouldn't "run around." Abby, I never was the run-around type, and he knows it.

He is so jealous I can't take it anymore. I have consulted professionals about this, and they all tell me I should leave him, but he has threatened to kill me if I do. I have already informed the police about this, but what good will that do if he makes good his threat? Then our children will have no one.

I'm so nervous I can hardly write this. I could take my children to my Daddy's farm, but I'm afraid my husband would follow us.

If I knew someone who would take 10 children, I would end my misery tomorrow with a bullet. Sign me,

"A 28-YEAR-OLD-PRISONER"
DEAR "PRISONER:" Your husband sounds like a very sick man. If he refuses to get professional help, add my name to those who advise you to leave him. You are doing yourself and your children a grave injustice by living with a man who is cruel, unpredictable, and possibly a mental case. If you remain, you are a willing "prisoner."

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this young man for two months quite steadily, and he hasn't even asked to kiss me good night yet.

I wait patiently by the door after thanking him for the lovely evening, and he doesn't do anything about it.

Don't tell me to grab him by the lapels as he wears nothing but turtle-necks.

Gilbert Again To Head Union

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—H.E. Gilbert, 61, Cleveland, Ohio, was reelected Monday to what he said would be his last term as president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Re-elected along with Gilbert, who will serve a third term, were two other Ohioans. M. W. Hampton of Ashtabula was re-named assistant president and W. C. Miceap, Canton, editor and manager.

"Concerned's" letter and had to write. "Concerned" had a fit because her brother's widow took up motorcycle riding at the age of 61. I say more power to the widow. It's a lot better than sitting in a bar some place.

I am a woman who is 69 and I've been riding a motorcycle for years.

It keeps me in good health to go sailing thru the air out of doors. I'll bet "Concerned" is just jealous because she hasn't got the get up and go. Or perhaps her get up and go has got up and went.

Saxbe Opens Campaign For Lausche Senate Seat

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Writer
URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe rolled north from his home county of Champaign Monday in a remodeled bus on the first leg of an all-out campaign for a U.S. Senate seat.

The Republican candidate got a rousing send-off from the home folk in Mechanicsburg where Saxbe was born and grew up. Flags draped Main street. The high school band was out and people cheered him on his way to Urbana, his first stop.

"I always have carried my home county," Saxbe said, "by at least 90 per cent."

At Urbana he was greeted at Monument Square by a crowd that lined one side of the street. There was a flag draped stand. Saxbe mounted it for a short talk but the stop was largely a handshaking affair.

On the way to Urbana Saxbe, in an impromptu news conference, emphasized he felt the Vietnam War and crime were the two big issues. He said, however, farming was another along with Urbana problems.

Saxbe said he was open minded on gun laws but felt registration of firearms alone would be more of a nuisance than a benefit in curbing crime. He said he could not recall any killing where the ownership of a gun had not been traced.

Saxbe, who is opposed by John J. Gilligan, a Cincinnati Democrat, Saxbe said it appeared that while President Johnson was talking in terms of gun registration that what he actually meant was gun confiscation.

If that is the case, Saxbe said, he doubted the public would be willing to accept such a prohibition until convinced the government could protect it in the streets and particularly the home. He added he did not feel citizens were convinced at this point.

Rain began to fall as Saxbe's

bus pulled out of his farm home at the edge of Mechanicsburg. His wife, Dolly, and his 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Bart Saxbe, accompanied him on the first leg of his campaign tour which he plans to carry into all 88 counties.

Other cities on the day's itinerary were Bellefontaine, Wapakoneta, Lima, Findlay and Toledo.

Ohio Pen Guards Vote for Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The possibility of a strike by guards at Ohio Penitentiary was set up Monday night when 97 of 99 guards at a meeting voted in favor of such action.

The prison now has 279 guards according to officials.

Lawrence O. Henry, director of Council 21 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, organized the vote, but said it was not a union action. Some guards are union members, but all guards were eligible to vote Monday night.

Henry said no strike would be called for two days, giving him a chance to send grievances of guards to the state compensation board for possible improvements in pay and working conditions.

The guards are asking for time-and-a-half overtime pay, disability compensation, free meals while on duty and better retirement plan, as well as better pay.

State corrections chief Maury Koblentz said later he would forward the demands to the compensation board, possibly with his recommendation.

Dear Abby: 28, She's Prisoner to Jealous Mate

DEAR ABBY: I feel like a prisoner. I've been married for 11 years, have 10 children, and I'm not yet 30. I thought I was in love when I got married, but all that is changed now because my husband has changed. He made sure I had a baby every year so I wouldn't "run around." Abby, I never was the run-around type, and he knows it.

He is so jealous I can't take it anymore. I have consulted professionals about this, and they all tell me I should leave him, but he has threatened to kill me if I do. I have already informed the police about this, but what good will that do if he makes good his threat? Then our children will have no one.

I'm so nervous I can hardly write this. I could take my children to my Daddy's farm, but I'm afraid my husband would follow us.

If I knew someone who would take 10 children, I would end my misery tomorrow with a bullet. Sign me,

"A 28-YEAR-OLD-PRISONER"
DEAR "PRISONER": Your husband sounds like a very sick man. If he refuses to get professional help, add my name to those who advise you to leave him. You are doing yourself and your children a grave injustice by living with a man who is cruel, unpredictable, and possibly a mental case. If you remain, you are a willing "prisoner."

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this young man for two months quite steadily, and he hasn't even asked to kiss me good night yet.

I wait patiently by the door after thanking him for the lovely evening, and he doesn't do anything about it.

Don't tell me to grab him by the lapels as he wears nothing but turtle-necks.

NO KISSES
DEAR NO: He has all the earmarks of a real turtle. So grab him by his turtle-neck!

DEAR ABBY: I read

Saxbe Uses His Own Bus In Battle for Senate Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The sign on the big, commercial-type bus reads, "Bill Saxbe for U.S. Senate."

The Republican attorney general bought the bus outright and had it remodeled to carry his campaign for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Frank Lausche.

John J. Gilligan, Cincinnati attorney, beat Lausche in the Democratic primary election, setting the stage for a free-for-all battle for the seat.

Saxbe said he planned to take the bus into all 88 counties of the state. It got its maiden run Monday. Saxbe took the occasion to announce the opening of his official campaign.

Saxbe did not disclose what the bus cost but said buying it outright and having it remodeled was far less expensive than leasing one for $250 a day. He plans to sell it after the campaign and recover part of the purchase price.

Saxbe didn't open up much on his first day on the bus tour. He was in home country and it was mostly handshaking and informal talking. But he said he intended to hammer on the need for a solution of the Vietnam problem.

He promised to release position statements, pinpointing where he stands on key issues. Along with the war and crime, he included farm and urban problems among them.

His first day took him to Urbana, Bellefontaine, Wapakoneta, Lima and Findlay. At Bellefontaine Saxbe gave a clue to the campaign image he hopes to create for himself. He told an audience there that what the nation needed was problem solvers, not critics who simply single out problems.

"This is not the time to rehash mistakes," he said. "What we need to do is meet and solve our problems."

The attorney general told newsmen who accompanied him on the bus that he was open-minded on proposed gun laws. But he questioned the worth of registering guns as a deterrent of crime. He said he felt what President Johnson really wanted was confiscation of guns.

Saxbe said before the public would be willing to give up its guns it would have to be convinced the government could make the streets and homes safe from the criminal.

Saxbe's campaign kickoff began at his farm home on the edge of Mechanicsburg with a breakfast for members of the news media.

Mechanicsburg took on a holiday air for Saxbe's opening shots. Its high school band turned out. American flags draped Main Street. Many of its 1,500 residents lined the street and cheered Saxbe on his way.

His wife, Dolly, and his 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Bart Saxbe, joined him on the first leg of his campaign tour.

war and the growing crime problem.

He promised to release position statements, pinpointing where he stands on key issues. Along with the war and crime, he included farm and urban problems among them.

IT'S A WORLD'S RECORD — Elliott Fishman (a perfect name!), St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, internationally famous angler, poses with the 845-pound blue marlin he caught off St. John Island. The catch is a world record for blue marlin.

His first day took him to Urbana, Bellefontaine, Wapakoneta, Lima and Findlay. At Bellefontaine Saxbe gave a clue to the campaign image he hopes to create for himself. He told an audience there that what the nation needed was problem solvers, not critics who simply single out problems.

"This is not the time to rehash mistakes," he said. "What we need to do is meet and solve our problems."

The attorney general told newsmen who accompanied him on the bus that he was open-minded on proposed gun laws. But he questioned the worth of registering guns as a deterrent of crime. He said he felt what President Johnson really wanted was confiscation of guns.

Saxbe said before the public would be willing to give up its guns it would have to be convinced the government could make the streets and homes safe from the criminal.

Saxbe's campaign kickoff began at his farm home on the edge of Mechanicsburg with a breakfast for members of the news media.

Mechanicsburg took on a holiday air for Saxbe's opening shots. Its high school band turned out. American flags draped Main Street. Many of its 1,300 residents lined the street and cheered Saxbe on his way.

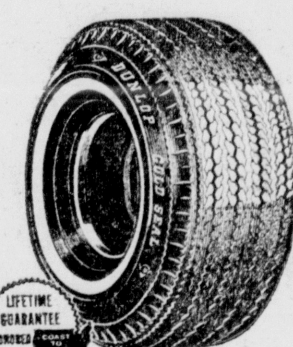

His wife, Dolly, and his 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Bart Saxbe, joined him on the first leg of his campaign tour.

Business Briefs

Sales of PPG Industries for the second quarter of 1968 exceeded those of any quarter in company history, and earnings advanced nearly 12 per cent over the comparable 1967 period, despite federal tax surcharge provisions retroactive to January 1, board chairman Robinson F. Barker announced today.

The record second quarter sales amounted to $266,407,000, an increase of nearly 11 percent over 1967 sales of $240,152,000. Net earnings were $12,962,000, or $1.28 per share, compared to 1967 second quarter earnings of $11,618,000, or $1.14 per share. PPG's second quarter performance, Barker pointed out, marks the fourth consecutive quarter in which both the company's sales and earnings have increased over comparable year-earlier periods.

For the first half of 1968, PPG sales were a record $506,170,000, an increase of nearly 11 percent compared to $457,362,000 in 1967. Net earnings in the six-month period showed a 21 percent increase over the 1967 first half despite the federal tax surcharge.

They reached $23,467,000 or $2.31 per share compared with $19,394,000, of $1.91 per share in the previous year. "Most of our major markets have been and should continue to be strong, despite some slowing in the national economy as a result of the surtax and other factors," Barker said. "The outlook for the next few months is clouded somewhat by the effect on housing starts of both cost and availability of money, and the continuing softness in chemical prices." The PPG executive said that the company's current eight-year $800 million capital spending program will continue to add new products, expand capacity and sharpen manufacturing efficiency. As an example, he cited gains resulting from the change over from plate to float glass production.

Latest phase in this program will be completion of the company's new float glass plant at Meadville, Pa. Barker disclosed that the furnace fires will be lighted at the new plant in late summer. When the Meadville facility is in full production, he said, float glass will account for about half of the combined production total of PPG plate and float glass.

The company's favorable first half report lends support to Barker's prediction at the annual meeting in April that PPG would realize billion-dollar sales year in 1968 for the first time in company history. Sales in 1967 were nearly $943 million.

Give Schedule For Rocky's Visit to Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The schedule for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's five-stop visit to Ohio was nailed down Monday by the Ohio Rockefeller for President headquarters.

The visit will be highlighted by Rockefeller's meeting in Columbus with Ohio's delegates and alternates to the Republican National Convention.

Rockefeller will speak to a rally at the statehouse at noon Thursday before he goes to the luncheon with the delegates. Gov. James A. Rhodes will participate in the rally.

Rockefeller is scheduled to arrive at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Toledo airport where a rally is planned. He is scheduled to speak at a public breakfast at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Toledo at 8 a. m. Thursday. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, will introduce Rockefeller.

The Rockefeller plane is scheduled to arrive for a Dayton airport rally at 10:15 a. m. Robert S. Oleman, chairman of the board of the National Cash Register Co. there, is also chairman of the Ohio Rockefeller for President Committee.

Rockefeller is scheduled to arrive at the airport here at 11:45 a. m. and go directly to the statehouse rally. The luncheon with Ohio's delegates will be at the Neil House Hotel at 1:15 p. m.

Rallies are scheduled at the Akron-Canton Airport at 5 p. m. and at the Youngstown-Warren Airport at 6:30 p. m. Rockefeller's departure for New York has been set for 7:30 p. m.

Salt Creek Watershed Meet Held

Over 25 Pickaway County farmers attended the meeting at Laurelville High School Monday to discuss the formation of a multiple purpose small watershed project for Saltcreek.

The proposed district will include Pickaway, Ross, Hocking and Fairfield counties.

Heading the Pickaway County delegation at the meeting were the board of supervisors of the soil and water conservation district and the local work unit conservationist.

Members of the board are Chaney Vance, Frank Graves, Jay Hay, Ralph Dunkle and Dave Bolender. Don Archer is the work unit conservationist. Robert Bower, a member of Archer's staff, also attended.

HARRY Mack Ross of Laurelville was elected chairman of the watershed project and Bruce Ebert secretary.

Clarence W. McKnight, area conservationist of Area Six, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, led the discussion to explain the small watershed and flood prevention program.

He explained public law 566 which applies to the program and explained how to make application for assistance.

The next step for the proposed district is to make application. If it is granted, the soil conservation service will conduct a survey to see if the watershed development would be feasible.

Salt Creek headwaters start in the northwest corner of Clear Creek Township in Fairfield County. It flows through Pickaway County, Hocking and Ross Counties.

Severe flooding during May inflicted heavy damage along the stream, particularly in Laurelville to farm lands all along its length.

1st Soviet U.S. Flight Is Delayed

MOSCOW (AP)—New York's heavy airport traffic delayed Aeroflot, the Soviet government airline, and Pan American World Airways Monday as they inaugurated commercial air service between Moscow and New York.

The delay at John F. Kennedy Airport was minor, however, compared to the seven years of negotiations, interrupted from time to time by Cold War crises, that preceded agreement this year.

The first Soviet Ilyushin 62 from Moscow arrived on schedule over New York at 4:30 p. m. EDT but couldn't touch down until 5:27 p. m. because of heavy traffic above the airport.

A special Pan Am VIP flight to Moscow was to have taken off at 7:55 p. m., followed by the first regularly scheduled commercial flight at 8:15 p. m. The plane carrying 11 government officials and other VIPs didn't depart until 8:23 p. m. and the regular flight left at 9:09 p. m. Again the heavy traffic was blamed.

Clifford Letter Urges No Cuts in U.S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has told the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that drastic curtailment of foreign aid could affect the Paris peace negotiations.

The warning from Clifford, now on an inspection trip to Vietnam, was contained in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., who released it on the eve of today's opening debate on the always controversial foreign aid bill.

"The impact of a drastic curtailment or a complete moratorium in economic aid on countries such as Korea and Thailand would be immediate and calamitous," Clifford wrote.

"Discontinuation of aid to South Vietnam and Laos could create internal situations which would prejudice the Paris peace negotiations and the accomplishment of our objectives in Southeast Asia," he added. Morgan sent copies of the letter to all House members.

Following today's debate, the bill will be put aside until Thursday so members attending the Wednesday funeral of Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., can be on hand for the battle over amendments.

Pool died Sunday on a plane in Texas.

Morgan's committee slashed the administration's request for the fiscal year that began July 1 from $2.96 billion to 2.36 billion.

The bill squeaked by the House by only eight votes last year when Congress authorized $2.67 billion for the program, but then appropriated only $2.2 billion.

A series of cutting amendments are in store along with an effort to clamp a one-year moratorium on the program and probably an attempt to kill it outright.

The committee bill allocates $1.97 billion for economic aid as compared with the administration request for $2.54 billion. Military aid was cut from $420 million to $390 million.

Clifford also cautioned against a military aid moratorium.

21 Trotters Go Postward In Scioto Challenge Stakes

Twenty-one of the nation's finest 2-year-old trotters will go postward Thursday night in the $14,400 Challenge Stakes. The huge entry forced the race into two divisions with each division racing for $7,200.

In the first division, the seventh race, ten promising juveniles will line up for the winner's share of $3,600 and one of the huge Challenge Stakes trophies. Moving in from the Grand Circuit tour to battle the local trotting stars are Arnie Blaze from the Howard Beissinger stable, Armbror Jet reined by Joe O'Brien, Rebellion with Chuck Jordan up, Uncle Horace driven by Glen Garnsey, and Richey from the Bruce Nickells stable.

Outstanding 2-year-old trotters that have shown promise from the Scioto based stables include the brilliant Abe with Jim Edwards in the sulky, Poinciana driven by Gene Riegle, Sentimentalist owned by Frank Bowling with "Big Jim" Arledge at the helm, C. Bee Lolis and Joe Lighthill and Let Him Roll trained and driven by Curly Smart.

The eighth race is the second division of the Challenge Stakes with eleven starters matching strides for the major portion of the $7,100 purse and another of the Challenge Stakes trophies.

Two undefeated juveniles will take on the field when Hiland Hill, owned by Dr. John Jackman of Columbus, puts his four straight wins on the line, and Masquerader Belle owned by C. P. Joslyn of Hudson, Ohio, defends his victory streak of five straight. Challenging this duo will be such Grand circuit stars as Hey Dere with Bob Scott up, Ericson Hanover reined by Bruce Nickells, the chancey Brushed Paint from the J. D. Dennis stable, Lindy's Pride with Howard Beissinger up, Star Willow with Dick Richardson, Chip Blaze and Chuck Jordan, Smoke House owned by the Peddler's Paradise Farm of Columbus, and Meadow Frost reined by Joe O'Brien. Rounding out the second division is the crack Canadian trotter, My Star Pick.

Mud Hens Widen Lead On IL List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the Toledo Mud Hens win the International League crown they can thank their ability to deal with the runner-up Rochester Red Wings.

The Mud Hens stretched their league lead to 1½ games Monday night with an 8-2 victory over the Red Wings — their seventh in nine meetings this season with Rochester.

Other action saw the Columbus Jets outlast the Jacksonville Mets 10-9. Buffalo edged Syracuse 6-5 and Louisville trounced Richmond 7-4.

Winning Toledo pitcher Jim Rooker delivered a run-scoring single that snapped a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning, in which Toledo scored six runs with a five-hit assault on three Red Wing pitchers. Rooker, running his record to 9-2, allowed eight hits and struck out 10 in eight innings.

Down 8-3 after Jacksonville scored six runs in the fifth inning, Columbus rallied for four runs in the seventh and three in the ninth. Bernie Smith's bases-loaded double tied the score in the ninth, and the winning run scored when the ball got away from Met leftfielder Tommie Reynolds.

1st Team Dead
JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — All members of the first basketball team formed by Dr. James Naismith at Springfield, Mass., in the 1890s are now dead. The last surviving member, Dr. Ernest G. Hildner, 95, died Monday here.

Chamberlain was traded earlier this month to the Los Angeles Lakers for three players, leaving a 7-foot, 1-inch void under the hoops for Philadelphia. It will take more than emotion to get those rebounds, someone suggested.

The 43-year-old Ramsay, also general manager of the 76ers, said he was aware of the problem. He talked of how he planned to run the Wiltless 76ers.

Ramsay plans to install 6-9 Luke Jackson at center, with Darral Imhoff and perhaps rookie Craig Raymond as back-up men. Jackson was a center at Pan American University and on the 1964 U.S. Olympic team before signing with Philadelphia.

Former 76ers' Coach Alex Hannum always referred to Jackson as his apparent to Chamberlain at center. Jackson is tough and mobile.

"I asked Luke if he traded Chamberlain would he be ready to play center and he said 'yes,'" Ramsay related.

7th Straight Win Since All-Star

Forty-two ounces that's a lot. Maybe. But they've been hitting the spot for Richie Allen and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Allen, who wields a 42-ounce bat, crashed two homers, good for three runs, Thursday night as the Phillies beat the New York Mets 5-3 for their seventh straight victory since the All-Star break.

"He uses a very heavy bat," says Phillies' Manager Bob Skinner, "but he's so strong he can still whip it through the zone."

In the seven games since the All-Star Game, Allen has whipped his bat through the zone well enough to get 15 hits in 30 at-bats, five homers and 14 RBI. This spree has lifted his season average to .314, with 20 homers and 53 RBI.

While Allen was having a ball with New York pitching, St. Louis was topping Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago was edging Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings and Atlanta was beating San Francisco 4-2 in other National League action. The Houston at Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

"He's just swinging the bat super," Skinner says of Allen. "He has a chance to win the Triple Crown and he is on his way to doing that now."

Allen helped his Triple Crown cause in the first inning Monday night by homering with Tony Gonzalez on base. He also homered in the fourth to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead and later added a single.

Leading 3-2, the Phillies wrapped up the game in the ninth by scoring twice on Tony Taylor's single and consecutive doubles by John Briggs and Clay Dalrymple.

Stan Williams Helps Indians

MINNEAPOLIS, St. Paul (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians can overtake the Detroit Tigers and win the American League pennant, Manager Al Dark will be the first to give a lion's share of the credit to pitcher Stan Williams.

Williams, a well-traveled journeyman who came up to the majors with the Dodgers a decade ago, has become the workhorse in the Tribe's bid to catch the Tigers. And if he has anything to say about it, he'll keep pitching virtually every day to try to win a pennant.

Williams, who will be 32 in September, snuffed out a Minnesota rally in the last of the ninth Monday to preserve a 4-2 victory for the Indians and starter Sonny Siebert over the wins.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer, tied the game and pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winner as league-leading St. Louis won its fifth straight and sent Los Angeles to its fifth consecutive loss.

The key hits by Shannon and Gagliano came in a four-run seventh inning that was climaxed by Lou Brock's RBI double.

Los Angeles took a 2-0 lead when Jim Lefebvre singled home one run and Willie Davis tripled and scored on an error.

Chicago pitcher Ferguson Jenkins sent Pittsburgh to its 10th straight loss by driving in a run with a two-out single in the 10th. The losing streak equals the longest in the Pirates' modern history. The all-time club record is 23 straight in 1890.

Pittsburgh scored in the fourth when Maury Wills doubled and scored on Matty Alou's single. The Cubs tied it in the fifth on Dick Nen's triple and Randy Hundley's single. The winning run was set up when Hundley was hit by a pitch and advanced to second by an infield out.

Atlanta won its fifth straight the Braves' longest winning string of the season — with the help of three first-inning runs produced by singles by Joe Torre and Tommie Aaron, two walks, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.

QUESTIONS

Al Geiberger To Return To Firestone Country Club

AKRON — Al Geiberger, the golfer who plays with steadiness and consistency if not brilliance, returns to the site of his last two tour victories when he competes in the $125,000 American Golf Classic at Firestone Country Club Aug. 5-11.

Winner of the 1965 Classic and the 1966 PGA Championship at Firestone, Geiberger has compiled an enviable record as a pro with his steady approach to the game.

He started playing for pay in 1960 and during that year won $10,000. Since then he's increased his winnings on the tour every year, surpassing the $63,000 mark in 1967 and climbing to the number 17 spot on the all-time money list with more than $311,000.

During the 1967 season, the lanky southern Californian played in 24 tournaments, completed 24 tournaments and earned a check in 24 tournaments and this year has done the same thing in 13 events.

It was this steadiness that gave him his back-to-back wins at Firestone. While others pressed for birdies on the rugged 7,180-yard, par 70 layout, thus getting into uncompromising bogie situations, Geiberger simply shot for pars — which is what he got. He wound up in both tours with identical even par 280 scores defeating the second place finisher both times by four strokes.

Previous in 1963, his Firestone record included a tie for 12th in the 1961 Classic, a tie for third in 1962 and a 24th place finish in 1963.

NFL Players Back on Job; Most Happy with Accord

By MIKE BRYSON

The National Football League players were back at work — officially — today, the bargaining table behind them and the bumps and bruises ahead of them.

There was general satisfaction among the veterans and the coaches when they got together Monday for the first time since the settlement of the dispute between players and owners that had threatened the 1968 season. "I believe if our demands weren't justified, the settlement wouldn't have happened so fast," said Green Bay quarter back Bart Starr.

"Everyone is happy to get the type of settlement we got," added defensive lineman Jim Weatherwax, who served as coach last week while the veterans worked out unofficially on their own after being barred from the Packers' camp.

Seventeen veterans, who also had been working on their own, showed up in shape at the New Orleans Saints camp in San Diego, and Coach Tom Fears called them "a group of dedicated athletes."

But there were others who had some second thoughts, especially about the manner in which agreement was reached.

"What was accomplished was pretty good," said Pittsburgh linebacker Andy Russell. "But I have reservations about the method. I hope it didn't set a pattern. I don't want to see it revert to the level of a union-management relationship."

Teammate Roy Jefferson, a flanker, agreed, adding in the future "we'll have to get together early in the off season and sit down and talk over these things and understand everything completely."

Orioles Gain Ground on AL Leading Tigers

As the eminent Satchel Paige once said, "Don't look back; someone may be gaining on you."

Coke Jets Regain Share of LL Lead

Coca-Cola, undaunted by dropping three of four games since June 27 and falling from first to second place in the Little League Majors, tagged the Elks for a 9-3 win.

Now the two contenders are neck and neck with 7-3 records. But with five games remaining on the schedule, a lot can happen.

Herald Hawks tripped Ralston Purina, 10-7, and American Legion won its second by edging Bingham, 6-4. The Hawks are now 6-4 on the season. Bingham and Purina are 4-6 and Legion is 2-8.

Coke jumped out to a 5-1 lead after two frames and continued to roll with four more in the fourth. Elks started in a rally in the finale but it was cut short at two.

JOHN Ankrom and Wade Camp teamed up to bury the win for Coke. They walked one and fanned 12, allowing just four hits. Kris Kline, Randy Thomas and Brian Herron worked for Elks, walking four, fanning six and scattering 10 safeties.

Leland Dowden tripled for the winners in the first with two on. Johnnie Hitch, Camp and Ankrom doubled for the winners.

Reggie Radcliff tagged a bases empty triple for Elks and Kline doubled.

The Hawks-Purina tilt was a pitcher's duel, with both sides only getting a total of nine hits. Gary Young and Robin Ott worked for the winners, fanning seven and walking seven and scattering five safeties.

Tim Burns and Dave Mehalick split the Purina mound, walking 12, striking out nine and allowing four hits.

Tim Burns' double for Purina was the only extra baser of the tilt.

AMERICAN Legion needed extra innings to nip Bingham. The score was deadlocked after six, 3-3. Both sides went scoreless for two more innings.

Then, in the top of the ninth, Legion came up with three runs on three hits. Bingham could only produce a lone run in their half.

Jeff Hawks, Mike Diltz and Bob Dollison worked for the winners. They fanned a total of 13 on five walks and seven hits.

Tim Brown, Keith Hoop and Terry Brown all worked the mound for Bingham, walking three, fanning nine and scattering 12 hits.

Diltz, Hawks and Steve DeBruin doubled for the winners. Mike Speakman tripled for Bingham.

DRESBACH pitched the win for Kiwanis, walking six, fanning eight and scattering just four hits. Fausnaugh combined with Wurtie Teets to work for Lindsey, walking eight, striking out eight and allowing the 12 hits.

Butch got past GE the hard way. After seven frames the score was tied up at 6-6. Lowing hurler Rich Speakman allowed Butch to load the bases and then hit Bill Thomas with a pitch, allowing the winning run to score.

Barthelmas doubled for the winners. Bryce Brown tripled for GE.

Kiwanis Inches Closer to Title In Babe Ruth

Kiwanis inched closer to the title of the Babe Ruth League Monday by thumping Lindsey Bakery, 15-2.

That, aided by General Electric's 7-6 loss to L.M. Butch, leaves the Kiwanians a full two games in front of the field with three tilts remaining.

Kiwanis now owns a 7-2 mark. GE and Lindsey are both 5-4 and Butch is 1-8. The loop leaders netted 12 hits in their rout of Lindsey.

Harold Smith tripled and Dave Dresbach doubled twice to pace the winners. Dean Fausnaugh and Graig Allison tripled for Kiwanis.

Barnhill kept a step ahead in the Mosquito League Monday, winning its sixth straight by dumping K of C, 12-7.

In another tilt, Hill Implement won its first after five losses, upsetting PPG, 8-1. Right behind Barnhill's 6-0 mark is Hammel and Plum, 5-0. These two will lock horns Friday under the lights on the Little League diamond at Ted Lewis Park.

Jeff Funk held the Knights to just one hit, a triple by Brian Edgington. Biff Bumgarner homered and tripled and Funk doubled for the winners.

Terry Bensonhaver was losing hurler, giving up 10 hits.

Barnhill Wins Sixth Straight

HILL came up with four runs in the first and four in the sixth for the win. There were only three hits in the whole game.

Hill's hurler, Strawser, walked four, fanned 17 and allowed just two hits. Cline, working for PPG, walked 13, fanned 14 and scattered one hit.

DeBruin and Cline tripled for PPG. Miller had only one hit for the winners, a single.

Colavito Signed
BALTIMORE (AP) — The New York Yankees Monday signed Rocky Colavito, veteran outfielder recently released by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

the loss column—as second-place Baltimore clobbered the New York Yankees 8-2.

Elsewhere, Cleveland nipped Minnesota 4-2, Oakland bombed Boston 12-5 and the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 3-2.

The joint-Tiger Stadium, that is—should be jumping this weekend when the Orioles come to town for a four-game series. Detroit visits Baltimore for a three-game set the following weekend. In all, the two teams have 13 games left against one another.

Jim Fregosi and Aurelio Rodriguez backed George Brunet's five-hit pitching with two-run homers as California blanked Detroit and swept a two-game series. The Angels managed only three hits but two of them

170 Golfers Eye 1968 PGA Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A field of some 170 golfers tests the narrow fairways of the Pecan Valley Country Club course today in preparation for Thursday's opening round of the 1968 PGA Championship.

Arnold Palmer drew a gallery of more than 100 for a practice round Monday. Booming drives put Palmer in good shape for the first few holes but his putting stroke was off, with most of his putts well short of the cup.

The golfing millionaire drew gasps from the tee and silence on the undulating greens of the 7,096-yard Pecan Valley layout, playing his practice round with Pecan Valley course superintendent Earl Jacobson.

Billy Casper and Jack Nicklaus are the co-favorites in the tournament, with Palmer another top contender for the title he has never won.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino of El Paso arrived here Monday, a big hit among a group of Lee's fans that will be crawling that course.

Sam Snead, a three-time PGA champion, matched Palmer's artillery off the tee in a separate practice round and had some early troubles with the putting surface.

The PGA field office said Monday that three golfers—all former PGA champions—have withdrawn from this year's tournament. They were Vic Ghezzi (1941), Chick Harbert (1954) and 1956 champion Jackie Burke.

were the homers, both coming with two out.

In the third inning, Vic Davalillo got the Angels' first hit off Mickey Lolich, a double, and Fregosi lined his ninth homer over the fence in left.

Lolich appeared to be out of the fourth inning. But Al Kaline, playing first base, dropped a throw for what would have been the third out and Rodriguez sliced his first homer of the season over the right field fence.

When Earl Weaver took over as manager of the Orioles five games ago, he said his club was not out of the race. All five games have been victories and the Orioles are making Weaver look good.

Baltimore collected only nine hits Monday night but seven different batters drove in the runs. Frank Robinson knocked in the first with a triple and scored on Boog Powell's bunt. Frank scored again on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson and the Orioles added three runs in the sixth.

Gusty Gallon Wins at Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gusty Gallon ignored a slight rain and toured the mile in a new lifetime record of 2:08 1-5 to win the featured $1,000 eighth race at Scioto Downs Monday night.

Owned by Milo Fisher of Gallon and driven by Carrius Ewers the winner paid $15.60, $6.40 and $6.20 while the favorite, Dangerous Charley, brought $4 and $3.80. Tim Tag showed for $6.80.

The highest payoff of the year came in the fifth race when winner Jack Byrd paid $125.20. The 6-3 daily double combination of Bett Honor and Count Abbe returned $126.40.

It should be noted, however, that the five triumphs under Weaver have been against the Senators and Yankees and Baltimore is 20-2 against those two teams under the combined Hank Bauer-Weaver leadership.

Duke Sims' two-run homer in the third helped Cleveland—only 7½ games back—build an early four-run lead and the Indians needed it as Mike Paul and Stan Williams put down a late Minnesota rally to preserve Sonny Siebert's 10th victory. It was the Twins' 12th loss in 15 games.

Oakland pounded out 17 hits, including home runs by Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson, in beating the Red Sox and handing Cy Young Award-winner Jim Lonborg, appearing in re-

Bengals Defense Shows Up Well In Scrimmage

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The stingy, alert defense far outplayed the offense Monday as the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League held their first scrimmage.

The defense limited the offense to short ground gains with Paul Robinson of Arizona netting eight yards for the longest rush of the half-hour session.

Defensive backs and linebackers stuck to their men so closely that the quarterbacks were often unable to get the ball into the air and completed only two passes.

The scrimmage, in which the offense ran only a few different plays, was followed by two more cuts and indications that more were coming in the very near future.

Ron Barber and Les Webster of Iowa State, both rookie halfbacks were cut from the team.

Orioles Gain Ground on AL Leading Tigers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
As the eminent Satchel Paige once said, "Don't look back; someone may be gaining on you."

Coke Jets Regain Share of LL Lead

Coca-Cola, undaunted by dropping three of four games since June 27 and falling from first to second place in the Little League Majors, tagged the Elks for a 9-3 win.
Now the two contenders are neck and neck with 7-3 records. But with five games remaining on the schedule, a lot can happen.

Kiwanis Inches Closer to Title In Babe Ruth

Kiwanis inched closer to the title of the Babe Ruth League Monday by thumping Lindsey Bakery, 15-2.
That, aided by General Electric's 7-6 loss to L.M. Butch, leaves the Kiwanis a full two games in front of the field with three tilts remaining.
Kiwanis now owns a 7-2 mark. GE and Lindsey are both 5-4 and Butch is 1-8. The loop leaders netted 12 hits in their rout of Lindsey.
Harold Smith tripled and Dave Dresbach doubled twice to pace the winners. Dean Fausnaugh and Graig Allison tripled for Kiwanis.
DRESBACH pitched the win for Kiwanis, walking six, fanning eight and scattering just four hits. Fausnaugh combined with Wurtie Teets to work for Lindsey, walking eight, striking out eight and allowing the 12 hits.
Butch got past GE the hard way. After seven frames the score was tied up at 6-6. Lowing hurler Rich Speakman allowed Butch to load the bases and then hit Bill Thomas with a pitch, allowing the winning run to score.
Barthelmas doubled for the winners. Bryce Brown tripled for GE.

Barnhill Wins Sixth Straight

Barnhill kept a step ahead in the Mosquito League Monday, winning its sixth straight by dumping K of C, 12-7.
In another tilt, Hill Implement won its first after five losses, upsetting PPG, 8-1. Right behind Barnhill's 6-0 mark is Hummel and Plum, 5-0. These two will lock horns Friday under the lights on the Little League diamond at Ted Lewis Park.
Jeff Funk held the Knights to just one hit, a triple by Brian Edgington. Biff Bumgarner homered and tripled and Funk doubled for the winners.
Terry Bensonhaver was losing hurler, giving up 10 hits.
HILL came up with four runs in the first and four in the sixth for the win. There were only three hits in the whole game.
Hill's hurler, Strawser, walked four, fanned 17 and allowed just two hits. Cline, working for PPG, walked 13, fanned 14 and scattered one hit.
DeBruin and Cline tripled for PPG. Miller had only one hit for the winners, a single.

Colavito Signed
BALTIMORE (AP) — The New York Yankees Monday signed Rocky Colavito, veteran outfielder recently released by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Tigers lost Monday night for the fourth time in five games since the All-Star break, bowing to California 4-0. Their American League lead was chopped to 6½ games—five in JOHN Ankrom and Wade Camp teamed up to burl the win for Coke. They walked one and fanned 12, allowing just four hits. Kris Kline, Randy Thomas and Brian Herron worked for Elks, walking four, fanning six and scattering 10 safeties.

Leland Dowden tripled for the winners in the first with two on. Johnnie Hitch, Camp and Ankrom doubled for the winners.
Reggie Radcliff tagged a bases empty triple for Elks and Kline doubled.

The Hawks-Purina tilt was a pitcher's duel, with both sides only getting a total of nine hits. Gary Young and Robin Ott worked for the winners, fanning seven and walking seven and scattering five safeties.

Tim Burns and Dave Mehalick split the Purina mound, walking 12, striking out nine and allowing four hits.

AMERICAN Legion needed extra innings to nip Bingman. The score was deadlocked after six, 3-3. Both sides went scoreless for two more innings.

Then, in the top of the ninth, Legion came up with three runs on three hits. Bingman could only produce a lone run in their half.

Jeff Hawks, Mike Diltz and Bob Dollison worked for the winners. They fanned a total of 13 on five walks and seven hits.

Tim Brown, Keith Hoop and Terry Brown all worked the mound route for Bingman, walking three, fanning nine and scattering 12 hits.

Diltz, Hawks and Steve DeBruin doubled for the winners. Mike Speakman tripled for Bingman.

Ashville Is Village With A Difference

TRACTION LINE — The building above was one of the power centers for the Scioto Valley Traction line built in 1903. With the traction line came easier contact with Columbus and increased wealth for Ashville.

ORNAMENT? — In the center of Ashville hangs the only traffic light of its kind. To the casual observer it appears to be a Christmas ornament left over from the holiday season. But local residents are quick to point out that it operates well and has lasted longer than most lights will.

By JOHN PURCELL
Herald Staff Writer

Situated amidst the green fields of Pickaway County is the village of Ashville.

Grain, today as in the past, is an important source of the village's wealth.

Ashville was started in 1845 when the transportation of bulk material such as grain was a great difficulty to the local farmer. So, instead of sending grain to the local markets, they sent corn liquor.

The distillery of Richard Stage was the beginning of the present village. Some old-timers say that there was a time when more than 200 fires burned in the area to heat the stills.

It was the presence of the large quantities of ash that was the origin of the village's name, according to some residents. Others contend, however, that the village was named after the Ashbrooks, a prominent pioneer family.

By 1874 the Scioto Valley Railroad had come to the area. The presence of the trains made transportation of large quantities of grain both convenient and more profitable than reducing it to liquor.

The coming of the rail and the traction line brought wealth and expansion to the area. The town built a hall for local formal occasions, developed an excellent school system and erected what was then the finest opera house in the state.

Ashville today bares little resemblance to the bustling frontier town of the 1840's or the entertainment center of the 1880's.

The opera house has closed and there are few bars, let alone stills in the area. Ashville is a clean well kept little town of mid-west respectability today. It has a modern postoffice, its own schools, ample recreation facilities and a well defined prosperous business district.

BUT there is something different about Ashville; something that sets it off from most other villages today.

The visitor entering the town for the first time is struck by three things.

No one can get through town without seeing Ashville's traffic light. The light hangs in the center of the street like a large Christmas ornament as the colored glass pieces inside the cover slowly turn, changing the color of the light.

Villagers state that there is no other copy of the light, designed by a local citizen, to be found anywhere.

After passing the light, the stranger is impressed by the corridors of trees that line the hamlet streets, adding cooling shade to the beautifully cared for lawns and gardens.

The concern of the towns' people for the appearance of the village is shown not only in the yards, but in the well kept colorful flower boxes with line the business area of town.

BUT if anything makes the village outstanding in the mind of a visitor, it is not the traffic light, the colorful flower boxes or the beautiful tree-lined streets. It is the people.

It is the friendly greeting you get from strangers on the streets, the smile and good service at the local stores, the advice of a passerby that "your front tire is low," or the openness of anyone to talk to you. It is the new Methodist minister cleaning the front walks of the parish, babies lying on the front lawn of the old school house or friends gathering in the afternoon at the pool.

Ashville is a respectable midwest village, showing all the outward signs of most residential areas in a prosperous technologically advanced society. Except that Ashville is still a community, not just a town. A point many of its residents are quick to bring out.

Unlike in many areas, this village still has a knack for neighborliness, old fashioned mid-west hospitality and friendliness that has been lost by many towns and housing areas in a hurry to grow, be modern, and face what leading anthropologist Dr. Margaret Meade has called "the disintegration of communal and interpersonal relations" necessary for a healthy society.

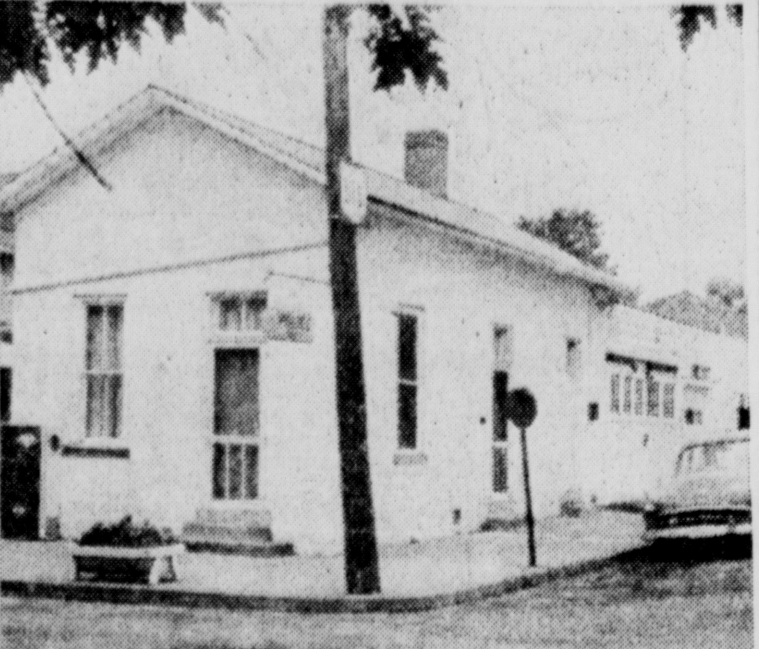

Summing up the community, one town official stated "Ashville is a community with a difference — its people, they are the greatest."

Ohio Projects Are Included In Cash Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Ohio projects were listed in a $4.7 billion bill for current fiscal year public works projects approved Monday by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING — Slightly removed from the center of the village is the municipal building which houses the police and fire departments. An example of the flower boxes used in the town can be seen in front of the police station.

OPERA HOUSE — Today it stands as an abandoned meat freezer, but at one time it was one of the finest opera houses in the state, with a seating capacity of more than 500 people.

Howard Hughes Wins Court Decision on ABC Purchase

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Hughes has won another round in his battle to buy 43 per cent of the stock in the American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. But the outcome of the transaction remains in doubt.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused Monday to enjoin the sale of two million shares of ABC stock to Hughes. It upheld an earlier ruling by a district court judge.

The financier offered, two weeks ago, through his wholly owned Hughes Tool Co., to buy the stock, then selling at $58.87 a share, for $74.25 a share. He set a deadline of 3 p.m. Monday on the tender offer, telling holders of ABC stock in effect, that if they wanted to accept his offer to buy, they had to do it before then.

The ruling came less than two hours before the deadline.

It was not known how much of the stock Hughes obtained. However, sources close to the multimillionaire said the stock had been coming in "pretty good." His agents said Monday afternoon that no decision had been reached on whether to extend the deadline.

Volpe To Visit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts visits Cleveland for a City Club appearance July 26th and is expected to do some politicking in support of Republican Presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon.

ABC sought the injunction on the grounds that acquisition of control before FCC approval is unlawful and that the purchase would violate FCC rules by giving Hughes more than 1 per cent interest in more than the permissible number of broadcast stations.
